Greek Rebels Are Reported Withdrawing Before Troops

Greek Rebels Being Routed By Loyal Army

Seventy Thousand Government Troops Are Reported Advancing

FEEBLE RESISTANCE BEING PRESENTED

Airplanes Are Proving Big Factor In Success Of Government Forces

By D. R. GELEJI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BELGRADE, Mar. 11.—Seventy thousand Greek government troops cutting a victorious swath eastward of the River Struma, wheeled around like a 20-mile human sickle today to consolidate their gains and press their offensive in the Kavalla area to the south and east.

Meeting with only scattered resistance from the 30,000 rebels mustered against them according to information reaching here, the loyal troops filtered into and beyond Seres.

Fog that had hampered their movements for days finally lifted today, permitting the government army to move ahead rapidly in the tracks of the retreating rebels.

Capture 500

Twenty rebels were reported slain, many more wounded, and at least 500 captured at Seres, while the government professed to have lost only 15 dead and 300 wounded in the entire ten days of the uprising.

Airplanes were credited with winning most of the engagements for the government partisans, by terrorizing the rebels with frequent bombing raids.

Although War Minister George Kondylis, who is personally leading the drive in Eastern Macedonia, seemed to be the master of the situation on land, former premier Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the rebellion from his headquarters in Crete, was still in power so far as the sea was concerned.

Reports of government success were borne out when Premier Tsaldaris rejected reported offers of major powers, as well as some of the Balkan governments to mediate.

Claim Revolt Collapse

Athens, Mar. 11—Collapse of the Greek revolution on land was claimed by the government today.

Rebels were reported in full flight after loyal troops had captured a wide area east of the Struma river,

Butler Youth To Face Trial

Court And Jury Will Hear Voluntary Manslaughter Charges Pushed By State

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 11.—Twelve-year-old Clarence Halleran today faced trial as the youngest crime suspect in local history following his indictment on charges of voluntary manslaughter for the fatal shooting of a playmate.

The county grand jury ignored a murder count in the charge list in deliberating the case against Clarence in connection with the death last December 28 of Kenneth Oesterling, aged 10. Young Halleran was arrested with another boy, Wendell Geibel, for the shooting that is alleged to have taken place when a quarrel broke out while the boys were shooting a rifle, but the latter was later discharged.

Treasury To Use Gold "Profits" In Reducing Debt

U. S. To Retire Bonds and Cut Debt To Extent Of $675,000,000

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Dipping into the "profits" which resulted from devaluation of the dollar, the treasury today moved to reduce the national debt by $675,000,000.

The operation involved a call for retirement of the only two outstanding bond issues against which national banks may issue currency. They were the two per cent Consols of 1930, called for July 1, and the two per cent Panama Canal loan bonds, called for August 1.

Retirement of the bonds will use up the remaining unallocated portion of the $2,812,000,000 "profit" which accrued to the government when the dollar was devalued.

Bank notes outstanding against the bonds to be retired will necessarily be replaced by Federal Reserve notes, and back of these, the treasury announced, will be an equal amount of gold certificates, issued to the Federal Reserve Banks. The actual gold will be car-marked and remain in the treasury.

Governor Will Seek To Force Tax Bill Action

Prepares To Wield Gubernatorial "Big Stick" On Revenue Measures

WANTS GAS TAX MEASURE SPEEDED

Fears Federal Government Will Cease To Provide For Relief Burden

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 11—Disturbed by the delay his $203,000,000 tax program has faced in the the legislature, Gov. George H. Earle today was prepared to wield the gubernatorial "big stick" for the first time in his administration to obtain action on the more important revenue measures.

Fear that the federal government may cease to bear the state's entire relief burden after available funds are exhausted this week, prompted the governor to request administration leaders to speed action on the bills, especially the measure boosting the state gasoline tax two cents. Designed to raise $40,000,000 during the biennium, the bill was regarded by the governor as an immediate source of revenue to meet the relief crisis.

Hearings Concluded.

Hearings on virtually all of the important revenue measures having been concluded, the executive confronted the ways and means committee with demands for action. As a result, the gasoline, amusement and tobacco tax bills, amended with a two-year limitation, were to be released from the committee tonight or not later than tomorrow. Other administration bills imposing additional taxes on manufacturers and insurance companies will follow quickly.

Governor Earle was to submit to the legislature tonight the administration's income tax bill designed to lift the tax burden from real estate by supplying funds for education. Republican income tax measures introduced in the house likely will die in committee while the administration attempts to achieve quick en-

City Will Ask Rate Hearing

Council Authorizes City Solicitor To Ask Commission To Fix Date

WHITE REPORTS SURVEY IS MADE

During a meeting of council held in the city building today Solicitor Robert White was authorized to request the public service commission to set a date for a hearing when the city can offer testimony in order that the commission may determine the fairness of electric rates paid here.

The commission is also to be asked to determine whether the city is entitled to recover any part of what the city has paid; and what the city shall pay in the future.

The move to authorize White to take whatever steps he considered necessary was offered by Councilman Davies and passed unanimously. It followed presentation of a report from White in which he said the survey has been completed. The report also detailed the moves taken by the city from the fall of 1934 when the city employed Burns & McDonnell to conduct a survey here for the purpose of determining whether commercial and domestic rates were fair.

Eight Philadelphia Attorneys Face Charges

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 11—Eight Philadelphia attorneys, among them a number of the most prominent criminal lawyers in this city, today faced the five judges of the common pleas court, sitting en banc as court and jury, on charges of professional misconduct.

The proceedings, without precedent in the annuls of Philadelphia jurisprudence, culminate a ten-month drive of the Philadelphia Bar Association to break up an alleged unethical alliance between lawyers and the underworlds.

The attorneys, although not on trial have been ordered to show cause why they should not be disciplined, if they fail to make out adequate cases for themselves, they face punishment ranging from a reprimand to disbarment.

In murder cases the jurors are examined separately as to their knowledge of the case, and their attitude toward capital punishment. In all forty jurors were called, and twenty-one of them expressed themselves as opposed to capital punishment.

Old court house attaches stated that they had never seen so many jurors on a panel who were opposed to capital punishment. When the

Proposal For Use Of Old Post Office For Library Is Discussed

Members of council convened in the city building today and made reply to the library board's proposal that the city buy from the federal govenment the old post office building and turn it over to the directors for library purposes.

Under the library board's proposal the city would take from them a relinquishment of the present library building so that it might be used by the city to erect a new city building or used for whatever other city purpose it might be suited.

Matter Of Funds

The city council stated in the letter that they are opposed to issuing bonds to pay for the old post office building.

Council declares in the letter that "if you will provide the money to pay for the building that the council will pass necessary legislation to permit you to acquire the building, providing the credit of the city is in no way impaired."

The council offers several suggestions as to how the library can proceed to possibly secure the old post office building.

Council also went on record as stating that "we will not consider the purchase or building of a new city building, and it would be folly for us to accept back from your board the use of the present library site, when we are of the opinion that the city cannot make any economical use of it."

Rev. S. B. Copeland Resigns As Pastor Of Third Church

Came To New Castle In 1921; Work Here Has Been Most Successful

Coming as a surprise to his congregation, Rev. S. B. Copeland, D.D., pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, announced his resignation on Sunday morning to take effect April 1. He has accepted the pastorate of the Wheeling United Presbyterian church in Wheeling, W. Va. He has been pastor of the local church since January, 1921.

Rev. Copeland came to New Castle from Harrisville, Pa., where he spent two and a half years after graduation from the seminary. At that time the Third U. P. church was a small frame building at the corner of East

Washington street and Beckford street. The congregation numbered 300 and the Sabbath school 350. Today the church membership is 1,050 and the Sabbath school 1,134.

Built New Church

The impressive increase in church and Sabbath school enrollment came as the result of his continued energies. Not long after coming here it became apparent that the church building was too small and a new church was built at the corner of East Washington and Adams streets, an imposing brick structure.

Rev. Copeland succeeds Dr. Charles Robinson in the Wheeling pastorate. Dr. Robinson was pastor of that church for 34 years but died some months ago. Since then the pulpit has been vacant and the congregation has been looking for a successor. After hearing many candidates an unanimous call was extended to Rev. Copeland.

The Wheeling church is an old historic one and in the past century has had but three ministers, Rev. Copeland being the fourth. In size it is not as large as the Third U. P. church.

YPSILANTI, Mich., Mar. 11.—The hunt for the maniac, who, with a sharp, two-edged stiletto-like instrument three times pierced the heart of 8-year-old Richard Streicher Jr., fiendishly carved a rude cross resembling an "X" on his chest and then jammed the body under a foot-bridge near the center of the city, went on relentlessly today.

Combined city, county and state police spread their lines in an intensive search for three degenerates with police records, any of whom, police said, are capable of the brutal stabbing.

Meanwhile several outstate tips which were run down proved futile.

Slayer Of Jeweler Will Go On Trial

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Mar. 11—John W. Koziar, confessed slayer of Samson Rosenshein, Masontown jeweler, will go on trial late this week, it was indicated today after a special grand jury returned an indictment against him.

Attorneys Arthur L. Byrne and Joseph Baer, appointed to defend the suspect, have given no hints as to what course may be followed as a defense for Koziar. The prosecution, District Attorney Wade K. Newell said, will demand the death penalty. The killing occurred March 3 during an alleged holdup attempt.

A possibility that a plea would be entered in an attempt to escape a death sentence was rumored, but unless such a plea is made the case is likely to begin about Friday.

Baldwin Charges League Of Nations Peace Plan Fails

Replies For Government To Attack Made By Laborite In Assembly

By H. K. REYNOLDS

LONDON, Mar. 11.—The League of Nations has failed as a preserver of peace and security in Europe, Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, told the House of Commons this afternoon in defending the British government's intention to abandon disarmament and build up her defense forces on land and sea and in the air.

"It is difficult," he admitted, "to look for collective security in the present state of the League of Nations."

Baldwin denied Britain had taken the lead in world rearmament and declared the nation wants nothing more than equality with whatever power is in striking distance.

Discussing naval increases, he said the United States is building up to

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

(Special To The News)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Mar. 11.—Wasn't that a remarkable will that Oliver Wendell Holmes left? Imagine a man giving his money to the government at a time when 120,000,000 people are trying to get it away from the government, or trying to keep from paying 'em even what we owe 'em.

At least 80 years of service to his country and he accumulated some money, and is so appreciative of what his country has done for him, that he wants to return it.

All we hear is "What's the matter with the country?" "What's the matter with the world?" There ain't but one word wrong with every one of us in the world, and that's selfishness.

The roads are hub deep with the mud, the fields are damp and soggy and where the cowslips have their home the place is wet and boggy. The farmer views the falling rain and thinks in terms of taters, while city folks pull on their gums and spats and sometimes gaters. But all of them agree on this the rain will soon be needed, when hay and turnips have been sown, and garden plots are seeded. For usually the month of June brings drought and dry brown hay field, which only cuts the farmer down when he gets in his hay yield. So let it rain and rain some more, we'll need it ere the summer's through, in raising things to eat and wear, the weathers up to fifty-two.

DRASTIC MOVES AGAINST CUBAN STRIKE

State Of War Decree In Cuba

Cuban Cabinet Takes Drastic Action To Put Down Revolutionary Strike

MILITARY REGIME TO RESTORE ORDER

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Mar. 11—Determined to put down by drastic measures the revolutionary strike that has already tied up the island with half a million workers participating, the cabinet today issued an emergency decree declaring that a "state of war" exists throughout the Republic.

The decree means that a drastic military regime will hold power in Cuba until order is restored.

Capital Is Calm

The capital was outwardly calm today, but intermittent shots and bomb explosions rang through deserted streets during the night.

Two persons were wounded by bombs and a two year old child was badly hurt when a bus, manned by soldiers, was fired on. Scores were added to the hundreds already under arrest.

Only troop trains were running on the railways, and street cars, busses and taxicabs, heavily guarded by police or soldiers, rolled through the streets, only at wide intervals.

Soldiers, sailors and policemen, armed with rifles, vigorously enforced military Governor Pedraza's decree forbidding the congregation of more than two persons in public.

Meanwhile, the central strike committee, bending all its efforts towards completing the general strike, had plastered Havana with posters calling on all workers to walk out today.

The unions, had the opposition of business and industrial men, who called on President Carlos Mendita, offering their support.

President Mendieta, against whom the stroke is aimed, reiterated the government's determination to suppress the walkout, calling it a "movement against the wealth, peace and integrity of the Cuban family not inspired by honest motives."

Rodolfo Mendes Penate, former secretary of labor in President Mendita's cabinet, and Arango Herrero, director of the national lottery, were among those arrested.

Rumors that numerous soldiers and students had been killed in fighting during the night could not be confirmed.

actment of its own bill so that its constitutionality may be tested in the courts by the attorney general.

See House Action On Bills.

Acting under administration pressure, the ways and means committee was prepared to dispose of most of the governor's tax bills, except possibly the severance tax on natural resources, before the end of the week. Because of protests from gas and oil operators who claim the imposts would force smaller wells out of competition, the ways and means committee will perform a major surgical operation on the severance tax bill or perhaps drop it altogether.

The governor's "chain store" tax bill, passed by the house last week with a healthy bi-partisan majority, will reach the senate tonight. Unless unexpected opposition is encountered in the Democratic house, the administration's other tax bills will soon be dumped into the lap of the Republican senate where further delay is anticipated.

Tonight, with little if any opposition, the house will pass finally the series of five bills transferring $4,200,000 from the motor license and fire insurance tax funds to continue old age and blind pensions and pay overdue hospital subsidies.

gone to see Father Rocco, formerly of Hillsville. According to persons who had seen them, travelling along the road, the machine was traveling fast.

As they neared Energy, Catale is said to have cut too close in negotiating a curve almost collided with a machine travelling towards Ellwood City, forcing the latter car off the roadway. As he attempted to swing out, he is said to have lost control of the car, which skidded off the road and collided with a telephone pole, tearing the top off the car, a four passenger coupe. It travelled fifty feet further before coming to a stop.

Brought To Hospital

Mike Wier, of Ellwood City, who came upon the scene just after the crash, brought the injured people to the New Castle hospital. He told highway patrolman Cunningham who investigated the crash, that Catale had passed him shortly before the crash, travelling at a high rate of speed.

Mrs. George Bright, of R. F. D. No. 1, who was returning to her home after visiting her mother, nearby, witnessed the crash. She stated that Catale had attempted to cut in too close in rounding the curve and forced the driver of a car proceeding towards Ellwood City off the road. She was under the impression that the two cars had brushed each other in passing, which may have caused Catale to lost control of the machine.

Catale, it was stated, had borrowed the car which figured in the collision from Frank Panella, of Youngstown, with whom Catale worked at the Carbon quarry.

The accident victim was born in Italy but came to the United States when a boy in his early 'teens and took up residence in the Hillsville locality, where he was also known as James Maturo. For the past 24 years he had been an employe of the Lake Erie Limestone Company, and had been a member of the St. Lawrence church of Hillsville, and of the St. Lucia and Artistia societies.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie and eleven children, Dominick, Victor, Joe, Antoinette, Peter, John, Tony, Andrew, Francis, Samuel and James.

Funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the St. Lawrence church, Hillsville and interment will be made in the St. Lawrence cemetery.

Caste and color and race should denote not prejudice and animosity but rather a sense of the bigness.

President Faces Political Crisis

Six District Movements Threaten His Legislative Leadership

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—President Roosevelt faced a grave political crisis today as the senate resumed consideration of his $4,880,000,000 work relief bill, with six distinct revolts threatening his legislative leadership.

All other controversies may be overshadowed by a direct progressive attack on the president. Progressives in both parties were aroused over reports that the administration is trying to "buy votes" on the McCarran prevailing wage amendment, through promises of work relief appropriations. One report stated two senators had agreed to switch their votes on this issue, thereby defeating the amendment, after being promised large appropriations for their state.

May Cause Break

A number of progressives threatened direct attacks on the president. It might cause an open break between Mr. Roosevelt and such Republican progressives as Norris, Johnson and Lafollette, who supported him in the 1932 campaign. It might alienate Democratic progresssives on whom he must count to win in 1936.

The other revolsts were:

1. By progressives in both parties to secure adoption of the McCarran prevailing wage amendment, which orders payment of prevailing wage rates on relief projects, even if monthy wages are limited.

2. By conservatives in both parties, led by the Democrats, Glass, Byrd and Adams, to slash the appropriation to $1,880,000 and continue direct reflief.

3. By conservatives in both parties, led by the Republican Townsend to force the administration to finance the work relief program in the same way liberty bond issues were financed.

4. By inflationists in both parties to force financing of the world relief program, first by direct issues of U. S. treasury notes, and secondly, by mandatory silver inflation.

5. By Senator Huey P. Long (D) of Louisiana.

The Long revolt probably worried the administration more than the others.

treaty limits, which Britain has not done.

"It is shown," he said, "that even under the treaty we did not secure equality."

Replies To Censure

Baldwin replied for the government to a vote of censure moved by Clement Attlee,, laborite, because of the recent controversial "white paper" which announced the arms increases and served to estrange London and Berlin by vigorously attacking the rearmament of the Reich.

Attlee accused the government of hypocrisy in its international dealings, bitterly criticized allusions to American armament in the "white paper" and charged Britain with "repudiating" the league.

His Baldwin deprecated, stating Britain truly desires the "universality" of the league, but he admitted this nation could no longer look to Geneva for protection and security.

"If the house expected me to stand in a white sheet because of the 'white paper' it has made a great mistake," he said.

"In the 'white paper' a Democratic government told what it believed to be the truth to Democracy."

Cold Genuine

Baldwin attempted to dispose of the current belief that German indignation over the "white paper" caused postponement of the long scheduled conference between Chancellor Hitler and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon in Berlin.

He insisted the chancellor's cold was a genuine illness, not a diplomatic one, and told the house Sir John would be visiting Berlin in about two weeks, "when we hope Chancellor Hitler will be in full possession of his normal strength."

"There is no reason," he said, "why negotiations already begun should not lead to a new era in Europe."

GREEK REBELS BEING ROUTED BY LOYAL ARMY

including the rebel cities of Seres, Drama, Demirhissir, and Kavalla.

The government announced the capture of 3,000 prisoners at Seres, the remainder of the rebels were said to be retreating in disorder towards the mountains of the East.

Rout Rebels

London, Mar. 11—Rout of the Greek rebels in Macedonia at the hands of government forces was virtually complete today, said an exchange telegraph message from Athens.

The rebels were reported to have abandoned Seres, Drama and Kavalla.

Rebel officers were deserting and fleeing to the north, a Reuter dispatch said, leaving their men to shift for themselves. The government claimed to have taken three thousand prisoners in the Seres operations.

Troops Rushed Ahead

Athens, Mar. 11—Government troops steadily pushing forward after retreating revels, won a victory that may prove the determining factor in the Venizelos revolution when they captured the city of Seres, insurgent's stronghold, according to government claims today.

The rebels were said by the government to have abandoned the town, fleeing farther eastward in Greek Macedonia, toward Drama and the Bulgarian frontier mountains.

A detachment of cavalry entered Seres at 8 a. m. at the head of the government forces.

The government also announced a victory on the sea, frustrating an attempt by the rebels' stolen fleet to come to the aid of the land revolt.

Abandon Vessel

Rebel officers and members of the crew of the cruiser Helle abandoned the vessel at Kavalla, after the heavy bombardment by government vessels and land batteries.

Loyalist officers immediately took possession of the Helle, which was expected to proceed immediately to Salonika, headquarters of the government's land forces.

Communist officers, according to the government, were found to be in charge of some of the rebels when 150 were taken prisoners in the drive towards Seres.

Casualties in the government's "big push" were said to be small, because the rebels were falling back without putting up any strong resistance.

The anti government army planned to draw up a new position east of Seres, from the vantage point of the mountains. and wait for the government to attack.

Thirty airplanes helped the loyal troops. "an enormous number of dead," were left after an aerial bombardment of the rebel barracks at Heraclea, in which pilots said they completely destroyed the buildings, according to government sources.

The crime for which Stinnett is being tried occurred near his home at Crescentdale. The two men had been having an argument. While it was in progress Stinnett is alleged to have gone into the house and secured a gun. The argument was renewed and it is claimed that Jones had bantered Stinnett to shoot, when the latter fired the shot that cost Jones his life.

FAITH
We notice where a lawyer pleading for his client before a jury stated, that the fact that the young people had been drinking should be taken into consideration as the majority of the young people today did the same.
From the fact that it is legal for the government to make drunkards out of our younger generation, we do not believe that it gives them the privilege to commit crime while under the influence of liquor and be excused from it.
This statement is a slur on our Christian young people and there should be a protest of such statements made or printed in the public press.

YOUNG JUDAEAN CLUBS CONDUCT FINE PROGRAM

On the eve of March 8 the Young Judaeans of New Castle conducted most impressively a religious program at Beth Shalom center, which was largely attended by New Castleites. Rabbi Schwartz opened the activities by introducing the speakers, and Ted Marlin conducted the Hebrew part, while Paul Cornfield was in charge of the English procedure.

A complete history of the Young Judaea was given by Beatrice Sandler, and the Junior Zionist movement was told, which related back to 26 years ago. From its very inception Young Judaea has aimed to inculcate in the hearts and minds of Jewish boys and girls a love for Palestine and desire to be identified with the rebuilding of the national Jewish homeland.

Sara Kohn revealed what this group has done and its present accomplishments, and Sam Safier gave an interesting account of the purposes of the Young Judaea Club, stressing the "forward outlook" of promotion in the lives of each Jewish boy and girl.

Each participant, in these ceremonies, performed their work beautifully and it was concluded with the singing of Hatikovh.

The Young Judaeans acted as hosts and hostesses throughout the evening.

Leaders responsible for the splendid and capable work of this group include Ada Gillis, Jeanette Ginsberg and Louis Shifman.

Young Judaea will hold its Purim carnival on March 31 at Beth Shalem center.

Serving Greater Number Reduces Funeral Costs

For public information we print
THE FACTS ABOUT FUNERAL PRICES
Statement of costs of 300 consecutive adult funerals conducted by BOOK-LEYDE Mortuary.

11 Funerals cost	$180 or less
21 "	from $181 to	$200
66 "	" $201 to	$300
69 "	" $301 to	$400
77 "	" $401 to	$500
34 "	" $501 to	$600
20 "	more than	$600

These prices include: Personal and Professional services, casket as selected, outside case (vault when used), removal of deceased, door flowers, local newspaper notices, funeral coach, grave tent and all equipment.

Large department stores and hotels would be forced to charge much higher prices if they served but few people. The cost per customer would be prohibitive. That same simple law of economics applies to all business and professional experience including funeral service.

Serving a greater number enables us to provide the superior facilities people desire for a funeral service and at no greater cost, frequently less, to each patron.

You will assume no obligation by asking for complete information about funeral service and its cost or sending for our free booklet "Facts About Funerals".

PUSH BUTTONS FOR VOTING

THE hall of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, while the august legislators are in session, is not the quietest spot in the world. Few would seek it out as a place for an undisturbed nap.

A bill newly introduced, for installation of an electric vote system, seems in the interests of harassed eardrums at Harrisburg, although its sponsor says it is intended to save his fellow members' voices. By pushing a button on their desks, Representatives could vote "Aye" or "No" under this system without wasted breath.

Unfortunately, however, the sounds of vote-recording are but minutiae in the great flood of noise inundating the House. If the button-pushing system could be amplified to the extent of shutting off the din of legislative oratory at will, it would be accomplishing something. And it might spare Speaker Sarig the necessity of continually pounding with his gavel in a vain attempt to maintain a measure of decorum.

ROMANCE REMAINS

Literary critics who read the trend of modern literature as indicating the passing of romance are reading against the truth. Romance came early into the world, and it will stay late. From time to time literature may wander after new gods and romance may temporarily be laid aside, but not for long. Man invariably takes it back again to his heart when he craves the warming thrill that nothing else in writing can give.

The Muse that holds sway over romance has made for herself a place from which no assaults by the so-called realistic or psychological or any other school can oust her. Romance has rendered man great service by cheering him in time of depression, by firing him to heroic action, by stirring him to high idealism, by shortening his hours of weariness. Other kinds of literature will not replace it, because they can't.

TOPSYTURVINESS

The London Lancet describes a curious optical disease of an English girl who saw everything wrongside to or upside down. She turned pictures upside down to look at them so they would "look right" to her and held a newspaper or book in the same position in order to read. When she added figures she started at the bottom and wrote her answers at the top.

It is obvious that many persons in this country and elsewhere throughout the world are suffering from a similar condition, although in their cases it goes deeper into the skull than the retina. With the English girl the condition was an affliction, freakish and promptly recognized as such.

But in the case of many a modern theorist and downright crank, it is too often regarded as an achievement in circles that ought to know better.

EDICT IN CHINA

To the confusion of its interminable revolutions, floods and famines there has been added something really upsetting in China. The officers of the national army have been forbidden by their commander, General Chiang Kai-shek to marry women who bob or curl their hair. The general views the shorn lock, and the twisted one, as detrimental to the health and morals of the country.

The effect has been about what one would expect from an edict so vitally affecting the women of a nation. A chasm miles deep, miles wide, separates two opposing peaks of opinion with the women of Shanghai and Nanking high up on one of them, supporting the general, and the women of Peiping and Tientsin high up on the other, opposing him. Reprisals by the latter are planned, even to refusing to marry the officers of the national army and, for those who are married to them, divorcing the luckless warriors.

We doubt if the edict of the general or the reprisal of the northern women will amount to much. Efforts at regulating the dress and customs of women (or even men) by formal order never did amount to much. And as to influencing women against marriage, or into divorce, on so feeble a ground as protest against the ban, we suspect the Chinese damsels have forgotten about it already.

OUT OF INFANCY

As even the severest critics will admit, the movies have come a long way since the days when there used to be "One Moment, Please" between each reel. Some who are less kind toward the movies than they ought to be may argue they haven't come far enough, and that the infancy of the industry is apparently a permanent one, but the case for the photographic drama is nevertheless a stronger one today than it has ever been before.

Much of the progress seems to have been made in the past year or two and is traceable, apparently, to two things among others. One of these is best illustrated by the recent selection by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences of "It Happened One Night" as the best picture of the year. Gay and even witty (which is something, on the screen) it is a far cry from the sentimentality and over-stuffed melodrama which not so long ago was the hall-mark of all "epic" films.

The discovery that a light and swift-moving and unpretentious plot is an excellent basis on which to build an excellent picture is, to our mind, the more important of the two things we have referred to above. The other is the superb translation of important literature into the language of the screen, an accomplishment exemplified in "David Copperfield" and "Little Women."

But it is the presence of a high amusement value in nearly all of the more important pictures of last year, however, which is worth noting. There was a time, not so long ago, when the motion picture threatened to go artistic without much regard for popular appeal. That period now seems to have passed. The entertainment tradition has returned, but combined with a greater recognition of the artistic possibilities of the medium, and the public's interest has returned with it.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE JAPS

There has been for years a great deal of talk in this country about the Japanese—their characteristics, their purposes and, particularly, lately their system of espionage. There has been every effort made to arouse the minds of America against the Japanese. All of this emanates from the Pacific Coast where there are a great many Japanese workmen—gardners vegetable and fruit growers, fishermen and other workmen.

The American workman is very hostile to the Japanese, because the Japanese know no hours, no rate of wages and are not susceptible to Union regulations. In the fields and in the gardens, the Japanese men and women not only work from sun to sun, but through the night. They can be seen from the highways operating their irrigation ditches at night. Their market trucks are on the road all through the night. Where they own and operate their own vegetable markets, their markets are the most attractive. Their attendants are the most courteous and they never close their markets. It is a twenty-four hour shift. No American workman will compete against this.

When the Press talks about Japan going broke, getting to the end of the string, the writers fail to realize that a Japanese will never quit; that this Nation entered Manchuria, absolutely ignoring the protest of the rest of the world in a determined effort to find a rich and productive land for Japanese colonization. The Japanese will colonize. Their soldiers will fight at forty degrees below zero and for pay that even a Frenchman would ignore, for they know that Manchuria is extraordinarily rich in iron ore and in coal. They know the land is also very rich and capable of producing any crop that will grow in the Temperate Zone. Manchuria is going to be a Japanese Empire and is not going broke.

When Americans become less lazy; when they cease to worry about their hours and their pay and when they are willing to sacrifice for their Nation—hours, pay and work, then there will be more hope for the future.

DUTY TO YOURSELF DEMANDS ADHERENCE TO DOCTOR'S ORDERS

When your physician designates a certain treatment and prescribes medicine for your ailment, do you carefuly follow his orders?

No; instead of continuing as you should, you become negligent.

When your trouble reappears in the same intensity as when you first consulted the doctor, you complain of the inefficiency of his treatment.

As soon as you feel better you invariably suspend the diet and habits necessary to complete cure.

Each recurrence makes it more difficult to combat.

Although at first there was a chance of entirely ridding yourself of the affliction, continued neglect has caused a chronic condition.

Many disorders that can be cured by a rigid regime will return when you revert to your old habits.

It should be worth a great deal to know what caused your trouble.

It is worth much more to have an efficient remedy.

BURIAL

A few gay flowers and a moment's prayer;
A few old friends in a shadowed room;
The step of his loved ones on the stair,
And a long, sad ride to an open tomb.

"Burial at two", the notice ran,
And at three we had spoken our last farewell
And were back at the desk of the business man
Or back at the counters with wares to sell.

Smiles and laughter suit business best.
Tears won't do when you're showing stock,
And that is the reason no patron guessed
We'd been to a funeral at two o'clock.

The World At A Glance

Criticism Of Single Tax Theoretical Educations

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—This is a day we shall devote to correspondents, some of whom spank the writer (which should delight the readers).

H. E. Kockary, of Elyria, O., believes the writer is inaccurate on the single tax.

Says Mr. Kockary:

"In one of your columns some time ago—about the latter part of October, 1934—you stated that 'the single tax is based on free and unrestricted international trade'. Nonsense. The single tax is based on taxing of land (and land only) to the amount of its full rental value. International trade (or any kind of trade) has no more to do with it than the number of light years the star Sirius is distant from the earth.

"Then, in your column of Feb. 23, you stated '. . . legal confiscation of excess property values. That is the single taxer's method of equalizing wealth and income'. This last sure takes the cake. Buildings of all kinds are property, as well as machinery, railroads, merchandise, etc. But all of these the single tax would exclude from any tax whatever. Land only would be taxed and that to its full rental value.

"Then the last half of your quoted sentence—'This is the single taxer's method of equalizing wealth and income.' Of all people the single taxer recognizes that you cannot equalize wealth and or income, that people are NOT born equal. . . . But what the single taxer WOULD do is to bring about conditions such that everyone would receive the full reward for his or her labor, the reward being commensurate with the value of the labor, of course.

"Why don't you read 'Progress & Poverty' by Henry George?"

We have—approximately 50 times, but maybe we'd better re-read it, and report.

COLLEGE EDUCATION

Robert L. Barnes, of Nashville, Tenn., agrees that colleges cannot develop genius. He approves of a recent statement of ours that colleges claim too much when, as some do, they say they can train a person to write for any sort of publication.

Says Mr. Barnes:

"The biggest proportion of young people today have a fine education from books only—but actually they still are ignorant. They can't make a living. . . .

"No genius ever was born in a college or school, most of them came through hard work. . . .

"I still think the tax situation is the onething that will help us all. . . . Mr. Roosevelt and only he is in position to set the right kind of taxation into motion and I think he may get around to it some time . . . There should be only one form of taxation—the government to collect all the tax and distribute to the states their proportionate share. . . ."

European Emigration To U. S. Now Virtually At Standstill

By WILLIAM PARKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS.—The tide of emigration of European workers to U. S. has definitely been halted, statistics on file today with the American Consulate service in Paris revealed, as legislation was being presented in Washington for further restriction on immigration.

Only 422 permits of a totol of 3,086 available under the quota for French citizens were granted in 1934.

The figures indicated 1934 would, for compairson, have to be placed alongside the year 1821 when only 22,633 foreign-born persons entered America to make it their future home.

Since high tide in immigration was reached in 1907, under stimulus of the first Russian revolution when 285,349 foreigners entered the United States as permanent residents, there has been a gradual decline.

In 1933 due to deportations, almost as many aliens were debarred or deported as were admitted.

Of late years, due to the American Immigration Act of March 2, 1929, the quotas of France, Belgium and Switzerland have not been filled. In 1930, Belgium had a quota of 1,304 yet 1,178 of this total was unused; France had a quota of 3,086 and only 280 French decided America would be a better place in which to live than La Belle France.

The years of the depression in America saw thousands of foreigners go back to their land of nativity, in an ebb-tide comparable with the early years of the world war when patriotism sent back a great number of Europeans who had gone to the United States to live. Those who have come back since the depression have found themselves facing terms in the army.

France, Italy, Poland and some of the Balkan states do not recognize naturalization of their subjects abroad, and if they return to their native land must serve the requisite military term.

Incidently, France is possibly the most difficult of all countries in which for a foreigner to become naturalized. A specified number of years residence is required, and police make a careful investigation of the public and private life of the applicant. On top of these the applicant is considered on his general education and whether he could by reason or language and temperament be assimilated into the French race. After passing these rigorous tests, no new citizen can hold official or quasi official post for 10 years after naturalization.

TODAY Is The Day

MONDAY, MARCH 11

Today's Yesterdays, Mar. 11, 1702—First English-language daily newspaper to be published regularly appeared in London: the Courant ("fleet messenger"). The editor, Samuel Buckley, assured his readers he would not take it upon himself to give any comments of his own "supposing other people will have sense enough to make reflexions for themselves."

You look in vain in its columns for the biggest stories of 1702, judged by present day standards, the execution of Captain William Kidd for piracy; and the death of 200,000 in a Japanese earthquake.

Mar. 11, 1748—George Washington, 16, went to work on his first job, as chairman with a surveying expedition sent out to map the vast wilderness tract granted to Lord William Fairfax.

Mar. 11, 1810—Napoleon Bonaparte, emperor of the French, was married to Marie Louise, princess of Austria, at the Hofburg place, Vienna.

It was a proxy ceremony, performed before Marie Louise set out for Paris to meet her husband. Napoleon was represented by the bride's uncle, Archduke Charles, whom he had worsted in a dozen battles.

Mar. 11, 1847—John Chapman died at 72, after having carved an imperishable reputation for himself as "Johnny Appleseed".

An ardent disseminator of the doctrines of Emanuel Swedenborg, he wandered barefooted and clad in sackcloth, Bible in hand, from settlement to settlement on the frontier, preaching "kindness to every living thing," and planting apple, catnip and pennyroyal seeds. When he died, thousands of fruitful apple trees became his monuments.

Notable Nativities—Torquato Tasso, b. 1544, renowned Italian poet—Jerusalem Delivered...Robert Treat Paine, b. 1731, Massachusetts signer of the Declaration of Independence. He conducted the prosecution of Capt. Robert Preston, commander of the British soldiers involved in the "Boston Massacre". His fellow Signer defended Preston!...Francis Wayland, b. 1796, New Yorker who preached liberal econor in the pulpit (Baptist) long before Coughlin, Holmes, et. al., were born.

You're Wrong If You Believe—

That all rain is the same colorless liquid.

It isn't. Thirty-four years ago today, red rain intermixed with sand fell upon Vienna and northern Italy, a phenomenon that never has been explained satisfactorily. Rain, usually thought of as colorless, has come down in all the colors of the rainbow. Seventeen years ago this week, black rain fell in Ireland!

Also, you're wrong if you believe—

It isn't. It was established in laboratory experiments that 3½ ounces of beef eaten raw was digested fully in two hours; "rare" in three hours; "well done" in four hours.

SCIENCE MARCHES ON

Irish Doctor—Begorra, I've knocked the fever out of him. That is one good thing!

Wife of Patient—Oh, doctor, do you think there is any hope?

REVENGE! GRRR!

Caller—What is your name, my little man?

Little Man—It's Lemuel Oscar Manfred Ovenshaw Muchmore.

Caller—Who ever gave you a name like that?

Boy—I ain't found out who's to blame yet, but I'm on their trail, and when I catch 'em there's going to be a murder."

Charged With Failing To Stop And Render Assistance After Truck Accident

George Fox, charged with failing to stop and render assistance, was placed on trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this forenoon. Fox was driving a milk truck on the State street hill near the Bell Telephone transforming station, when he is alleged to have struck and killed Charles Pattison, a resident of Union township.

The accident happened early on the morning of February 12. Fox claimed that he had not seen the man walking on the road and that the first intimation he had of him was when he felt a slight jar of his truck. He looked back, saw Pattison lying in the road. He stopped and went back, but seeing the man was apparently dead, he became terrified and drove away. Later he admitted that he was the driver of the truck that apparently struck the aged man.

Lawerence County Farmers Receive Trivial Benefits

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 11.—Lawrence county farmers participating in New Deal crop reduction programs had received federal benefits of only $728.91 up to February 1. Such payments to co-operating farmers had totaled $1,750,488 in Pennsylvania and $585,921,943 in the country as a whole.

Of the Lawrence county payments $203.45 went to farmers agreeing to reduce their wheat crop. The balance of $525.46 was paid to county farmers participating in the corn-hog control plan.

Benefit payments totaled $2,192 in Butler county, $988.64 in Beaver county, and $1,573 in Mercer county. Such payments were smaller in Lawrence county than all but eight of Pennsylvania's counties.

Name Jamboree Aides To Escort Local Boys

Four Council Leaders Choose Harry Miles To Supervise Summer Trip

The Boy Scout jamboree committee of the Lawrence County council which is charged with the selection of a full troop of scouts, one from each troop in the council and supervision of their attendance at the 25th anniversary jamboree at Washington, D. C., in August, has selected the leaders to whom the responsibility will be delegated to take this group to Washington for the largest assembly of Boy Scouts ever assembled in America, for the period of August 20 to 31 inclusive. Harry Miles, scoutmaster of Troop V-18, has been selected as the scoutmaster of the jamboree troop and E. D. Hawk and Alfred "Sandy" Howard, scoutmasters of Troops 3 and V-37, respectively, as the assistant scoutmasters.

To date less than half of the troops eligible to send a delegate have made a declaration of intention to the committee and it is important that reservations be made at the earliest possible moment because the national council has given notice that only 30,000 boys can be accommodated and that as soon as that number has applied the charter will close whether the time limit has arrived or no.

The local committee will leave it to the discretion of each troop to select the representative scout as they may see fit so long as they abide by the national rules as given in "Scouting" magazine and "Boys' Life." In every case the scoutmaster and the troop committee are the final authority for the recommendation of the scout selected.

The question of transportation and preliminary camping and their cost has been left for later disposition but both these items will be covered by about ten or twelve dollars at the outside. The cost for the camp at Washington, D. C., will be $25.00 which will have to be paid to the council office by April 1. The cost of the required uniform will be from $7.50 to $12.00, so that the outside required cost will be less than $50.00, not counting the boys' spending money, which is a personal matter.

The committee consists of Dr. R. C. Lutz, Prof. B. F. Thacker, Ralph Main and Rev. A. M. Stump.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, former associate justice of the United States supreme court, left an estate of $568,762, of which approximately one half, representing the residue, is to be given to "The United States of America" by the terms of his will filed for probate today in the District of Columbia supreme court.

This residual bequest totaling approximately $260,000 was made in the will dated Nov. 3, 1931. By special provision Justice Holmes directed that the residue after payment the bequest would be given to "The United States of America," without provisions as to the purpose for which it is to be used.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard took Joe Ruben to the Morganza Industrial Reform School on Saturday. Ruben was arrested on a charge of breaking and entering a building with intent to commit a felony. He was sentenced to Morganza after entering a plea of guilty.

It was easy to tell that Deputy Sheriff Ben Hartland had been having a trying experience with mud roads when he came back from a trip into Hickory township. Not only the automobile, but Mr. Hartland was covered with mud, the yellow, sticky kind that is hard to get off. According to Ben's story he got stuck in the mud several times. It took three horses to haul his car out of one mud hole.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has posted a notice in the prothonotary's office to the effect that the schedules of distribution of funds received from recent sales of property, are on file in his office. Any person who has any objection to the way the funds are to be paid out has ten days from the posting of the notice to take exception.

Some quick work was done recently by the sheriff's office in rounding up a discharged prisoner. The man had been in the county jail on a minor charge under the name of Lee Porter. The sheriff at Warren, O., called up to ask if a certain man was in jail. Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor replied that a man answering the description had been in jail but had been discharged. The name given by the Warren sheriff was different from that of the discharged prisoner, but the Warren sheriff had described him as "pop-eyed," which fitted the man who had been discharged. Sheriff Pritchard and a deputy started out to look for him, and in half an hour they had him back in the county jail. The Warren sheriff came for him at once, and complimented the sheriff on his quick work.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts says that he intends to send out county tax cards as soon as the duplicates are in his office. The taxes are now being figured up in the county commissioners office. Volant borough, Enon and Little Beaver township have been completed, but the county treasurer does not expect to receive taxes until after the cards are sent out. From present indications this will be sometime around the middle of April. A discount of five per cent will be allowed for a certain length of time to all who pay their taxes promptly. The second ward, New Castle, takes more work than any of the others, as there are over 6,600 taxpayers in it. A clerk has been placed on this book to remain until the job is finished.

Fingerprint specialist Earl T. Denton and photographer Limbers of the state police barracks at Butler, have just completed taking finger prints and photographs of all the prisoners in the Lawrence county jail. This is done regularly at intervals of several months. The finger prints and photos are pasted on cards. A copy is furnished the sheriff, one goes to the state department and another to the national headquarters at Washington. The fingerprint bureau at the Butler barracks has recently moved into new quarters and has been equipped with all the latest appliances used in finger printing. The records contain not only such suspects as the state troopers handle themselves but records of prisoners in county and city jails. Records of minor criminals are collected at intervals, but those of murderers are obtained as soon after arrests as possible.

FRANKLIN, Pa. Mar. 11.—Prompt arrival of C. E. Lowry, 107 Forest Hills drive, Youngstown, O., at the scene of an overturned automobile, saved the life of Mrs. Maude Smiley, 58, en route to New Castle, late yesterday.

Lowry was en route here with his wife and three little children when he saw an automobile weaving from one side to another, then suddenly overturn on the highway near Jackson Center.

He stepped on the gas, reaching the car, which was afire. He frantically pulled at one door, then at another. Both stuck. Finally one was opened and he dragged Mrs. Smiley to the highway, just as the entire car became ablaze. The woman was unconscious, blood streaming from her face.

Huge Potential Demand For Machinery Is Seen By Ellwood City Man

ELLWOOD CITY, March 11—The potential demand for new machinery, accumulated during the five depression years, has grown to such large proportions as to indicate that virtually every unemployed worker in the durable goods industries, could be given a full-time job for two years to come if the demands were to be translated into actual orders.

So asserted F. E. Moore, president of Mathews Conveyer company in an interview here today.

"This means," said Mr. Moore, "That the unemployment situation in this and other industrial centers throughout the country, would vanish over night if manufacturers should place orders for essential machinery and equipment required to replace that rendered obsolescent or out-dated since 1929.

"It means, as well, that there would be a wholesale revival in all business done, including retail trade of every description."

Mr. Moore based his estimate on a survey, just completed, of the pent-up machinery and equipment requirements of the country, held back during the depression. The survey, made by the Machinery and Allied Products Institute of Chicago, of which Mr. Moore is a member, discloses that the potential demand for new machinery and equipment throughout the United States at the present time totals $18,574,000,000.

"That," said Mr. Moore, "represents about three-fourths of what it would cost to reproduce all the Class 1 railroads of the United States. It is almost as much as is collected in taxes by all forms of government in this country for two years.

"Sixty-five percent of the cost of all machinery, on the average, is paid out in the form of wages to labor that produces it and the raw material from which it is made. On that basis, there is in prospect a potential payroll of more than twelve billion dollars to labor to be employed in making this vast amount of machinery when the log jam is broken and manufactures replenish their badly run-down plants.

"Twelve billion dollars, at an average wage of 60 cents an hour, means twenty billion hours of employment to workers in the machinery industries. Twenty billion hours of employment would mean work for one man, eight hours a day, six days a week, for 8,000,000 years.

"To put it another way, it would mean work for 4,000,000 men for two years.

"At the present time," Mr. Moore continued, "it is estimated that, out of the 10,000,000 people unemployed 8,300 000 are able workers and that of these there are about 4,000,000 unemployed workers in the durable goods industries thruout the country. Some estimates are higher, but, taking 4,000,000 as conservative, the result of the survey indicates that this whole huge army of men looking for work—many whom are on relief rolls—could be employed steadily and gainfully for two full years if the machinery demand alone were to be met.

"The survey covered the potential machinery and equipment needs of approximately 150,000 industrial plants producing goods of all description in the United States. It disclosed that from one-fourth to one-half of the nation's industrial plants have become obsolete during the depression and will have to obtain new machinery and equipment when industry revives if they are to hold their own in the hot competition for business.

"The survey also indicated that far-sighted manufacturers, aware of the stirrings of revival in business, are making up machinery replacement programs now, while times are still slack, and are beginning to place orders for their requirements.

"Those manufacturers will be able to obtain the machinery and equipment needed at present low price levels as the machinery producers now are in a position to meet demands. When the rush begins, I apprehend that it will be difficult to get machinery without considerable delay. The survey indicates this quite clearly, as it shows a potential demand sufficient to employ 4,000,000 workmen, while, according to statistics, the number of machinery workers at the present time is down to about 500,000."

A reasonable assurance of business stability and a return of confidence, Mr. Moore said, would unloose this huge machinery demand and go far toward solving the entire national unemployment problem, with a corresponding business revival.

Cold Draw Noses Out Inspection

Last Quarter Rally Gives Cold Draw 32-30 Victory On Saturday

BAR MILL BEATS OFFICE QUINTET

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 11.—Cold Draw cagers staged a desperate last quarter rally to nose out the Inspection team 32-30 Saturday evening at the Shelby auditorium. The Bar Mill won their first game of the second half in the second game of the evening by defeating the Office 40-37.

The first game was close and hard fought all the way. The Cold Draw jumped to an 11-6 lead in the initial period, but found themselves trailing 18-13 at half time. The Inspection held an edge at the end of the third quarter, 23-21. Things got lively and interesting in the final quarter, with the Cold Draw staging its rally and winning out. Sheeler was the big star for the victors with 12 points. Fitzgerald was the best for the losers with 10.

Bar Mill cagers jumped to an early 12-7 lead and never relinquished it during the game. They led 25-13 at the half and 36-20 in the third quarter. The Office started a fine rally in the closing stanza, counting up 17 points to 4 for the Bar Mill to make the final score 40-37 for the latter. Richards, Bohlinger and Smith were in the thick of the attack for the Bar Mill. Kimes was outstanding for the Office.

Girl Will Tell Of Vice Ring

Brunette To Testify Before New York Grand Jury On White Slavery

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—A pretty brunette, who was lured into New York's far-flung vice racket by the promise of "easy money" and held a prisoner for four weeks in a Brooklyn dive, will brave the threat of a "ride murder" today and tell the grand jury all she knows of white slavery here.

The girl's story, already told privately to District Attorney Dodge, will mark the advent of the third week of the city's campaign to rid itself of vice and various forms of gambling, including the policy slip racket, the "take" of which is estimated at $500,000,000 a year.

The girl, whose identity is being withheld, is the only one of scores of women taken in recent raids who has shown a willingness to reveal how the vice ring operates.

MORE WALKING, LESS TALKING, IS OPINION OF SCOUT CAMP HEAD

More walking and less talking in one aid to national welfare suggested by Miss Emelia Thoorsell, head of the Girl Scout National camp department, who believes that most Americans have lost their taste for silence and simple exercise and with it some of their self-confidence.

Miss Thoorsell advocates lots of hiking—and that is one of the many splendid features offered by Girl Scouting.

YOUNGSTER ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Little Frank Walker, Jr., of Court street, who was scalded about the legs when a tea kettle slipped from his mother's hand several weeks ago, has recovered sufficiently to return home from the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he has been undergoing treatment for his injuries.

In ancient times a large part of Italy as the classical writers tell us, was covered with forests.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mayor Mayne sentenced a colored gentleman who had been arrested for drunkenness to do janitor chores around the police station. The man proceeded to do as sentenced. Detective John Moore dropped two one dollar bills when the colored man was not looking in his direction When he did gaze toward the detective the latter picked up the money and remarked: "This is my lucky day." The negro believing the officer had found the money, reached for his vest pocket and declared: "Mistah, ah dropped dat money." Moore asked "How much did you have?" The colored man answered "two dollars." Moore smiled as he strolled away and later inquired: "What do you think of that prevaricator?"

Indications are that New Castle was the "jumping off" place for a promotor who was ordered out of the city after Mayor Mayne decided the promotor could not come here, put on a show and collect a goodly portion of the receipts and a local organization get the remainder. Since leaving here reports have come of his having been jailed in Steubenville, Parkersburg and one or two other places.

A man who gave his name as Alexander Maxwell, itinerant and "gandy dancer" as his occupation faced Mayor Mayne in Sunday police court on a charge of begging. During the progress of the hearing he called the mayor "Kid" and when the mayor and prisoner talked things over and the stranger found the mayor was 3 years older than he termed the mayor "Dad." He said he had been "places" during his 61 years and had worked at various occupations. He was given a loaf of bread and a bag of chestnuts to sustain himself on his travels, and set free.

Police chronology for 48 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., March 10, 18 arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness 5, violation of parking law, 8; begging, 1; drunkenness and begging, 2; drunkenness and fighting, 1; suspicion, 1.

When council convened today, bids for a new grader, desired by the department of streets, will be opened by council. The streets department grader is said to be too light for work and that expenses for its repairs make its continued use uneconomical. The new truck bought for the department has not yet arrived.

Birds Will Be Placed In Pens In Near Future

Dryer Weather Being Awaited At Game Farm For Launching Of Laying Season

Superintendent V. T. Warfel, of the Jordan State Game Farm, said this morning that as soon as there is a "break" in the weather, the farm's supply of ringnecked pheasants will be apportioned off to the laying pens.

Dryer weather is needed but the start of the laying season will be only a matter of a couple weeks away, at the most, the superintendent explained. Right now the entire farm is very muddy.

Due to the great amount of clearing work done last fall and this winter by RWD men, the farm, located a mile from Harlansburg, is in much better condition than it has ever been. The work was discontinued a short time ago.

Charge Plot To Secure Estate

"Flop House" Operator In Chicago Is One Of Persons Accused

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Mar. 11—Indictments charging forgery and conspiracy will be sought against Mrs. Bella Butman, "flop-house" operator, and six men involved in the plot to gain possession of the $100,000 estate of James Thomas Kelly, "the miser of Madison street" today.

Meanwhile an analysis of Kelly's organs was being made in an attempt to discover if he had been poisoned, and police investigated the mysterious deaths of a man, who died in Mrs. Butman's 25 cent rooming house last November, and a woman who died in a tavern operated by Mrs. Butman.

"There are rumors that other mysterious deaths are traceable to a tavern formerly operated by Mrs. Butnam," assistant state's attorney Julius Sherwin declared today.

Patrolmen May Carry Cameras

(International News Service)

SHARON, Mar. 11—The suggestion of Capt. Wilson C. Price, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Highway patrol, that highway patrolmen be equipped with cameras for the pictorial recording of traffic accidents has been greeted with favor among highway patrol officials in the Mercer-Lawrence county district and at the Sharon barracks.

Among those who have come forward in defense of the plan are Sergeant Earl McGill and Corporal G. L. Keck, both of whom pointed out the valuable information that could be supplied through the accurate accident details supplied by a picture.

A cablegram has been received from Tanta, Egypt by Mrs. Ida May Allison, of Crawford avenue, announcing the birth of a son to Rev. and Mrs. Hugh E. Kelsey. Rev. Kelsey who is a son of Mrs. Allison, and family, have been located in Tanta since 1922, as representatives of the United Presbyterian Mission board.

KEPT IN COUNTY HOME, GETS RELIEF CHECK

BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 11—Butler county was rocked by another poor farm "scandal" today when it was disclosed that Peter Ross, an inmate of the county home, has been drawing emergency relief checks at a Negley avenue address in this city.

Ross, designated by county officials as "Chiseler No. 1" on the county relief rolls, faces prosecution both by the Emergency Relief Board and by the county.

Aviators applaud flight of plane with automobile suspended beneath

What these flyers say:

LIEUT. HINTON says:
"I wish to compliment you, not only upon the tests themselves, but also upon the excellent educational value of your advertisements. It is developments such as this that is bringing aviation into prominence as a major industry."

COL. CHAMBERLIN says:
"I have watched with interest the help being given to aviation by companies of importance which are national advertisers and I am daily impressed with the fact that, but for such assistance, the general public would have little conception of the tremendous aeronautical advance which each year brings."

MR. PANGBORN says:
"It must be realized that there is a severe mental hazard to overcome in any first-time, unusual use of aircraft. This has been my experience, based on years of flying. I congratulate you on your enterprise in this matter."

MR. WILLIAMS says:
"Sun Oil Company scores another first! Aviation is certainly indebted to you for proving that an automobile can be carried safely under the fuselage of an airship. This daring flight proved the practicability of something which before had seemed visionary."

ALEXANDER KLEMIN
Professor Aeronautical Engineering, Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York, says: "I had the pleasure of testing out the stability and control of this Burnelli airplane with the automobile mounted underneath, in the wind tunnel at New York University. The results indicated that both the control and stability remained satisfactory. This was fully proved by the flight tests and a valuable scientific fact has thus been fully established."

Measure Seeks To Consolidate Tax Collections

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 11.—Under the previsions of a bill introduced by Representative Moomaw of Franklin County, tax collections in Pennsylvania would be consolidated and a savings of approximately $3,000,000 achieved it is said.

The bill would provide for the collection of all county, borough, township, school and poor taxes by the County Treasurer, with the cities retaining the City Treasurer for the collection of city taxes. By this means it is said that the total number of tax collectors for the state would be 67 county treasurers and 46 city treasurers, a total of 113.

The bill is sponsored by the Taxpayers Forum of Pennsylvania, an organization composed of individual members and such organization members as the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, National Economy League, Pennsylvania League of Women Voters, Second Class Township Supervisors Association, Tax Justice League and others.

BRITISH M. P'S. FIND LIVES IN DANGER

(International News Service)

LONDON—A warning by a Socialist speaker in Parliament the other day that if a General Election was held at the present time some Tory members of the House of Commons would be "lucky to get out of their constituencies with their lives" may be more than an idle jest.

A. L. Bateman, Conservative M. P. for North Camberwell for a quarter of a century, has announced that he is retiring because he is in fear of his life when he goes into his constituency.

"In some parts of North Camberwell," Bateman said, "I have had as many as fifty policemen to get me safely out of meetings. I will not risk my life any longer, but will seek a safer and easier seat.

LETHERMAN CONVICTED; PLANS TO APPEAL CASE

Mother Hysterical At Decree Of Jury

Convicted Youth At Liberty Under $10,000 Bond Pending Appeal Move

JURY OUT IN CASE MORE THAN 24 HOURS

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Mar. 11.—Stunned by the verdict of a jury of three women and nine men which found him guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the death of his sweetheart, Viola Dennis, William Letherman today was a recluse in his home at Charleroi.

The jury debated more than 24 hours. When the verdict was announced, Leterman's pretty red-haired mother became hysterical and had to be carried from the court-room. The youth was at liberty on $10,000 bond pending appeal which must be made by his attorneys within the next four days.

Mother Shrieks

Letherman was white-faced, hands clenched as the foreman of the jury announced its decision. He blanched even more as his mother uttered shriek after shriek and was taken from the court.

W. W. Dennis, stern-faced Donora councilman and father of the girl the commonwealth maintains was beaten to death by her lover. Talked for the first time since the trial started. He said:

"I feel that justice has been done."

Defense attorneys asked for an individual poll of the jury. This was too much for Mrs. Letherman, a half sob, half groan came from her lips. She almost slumped to the floor until a court attache held her. A physician administered a sedative.

Faces Prison Term

The state did not ask a death penalty. Lethermann faces a fine and a possible prison sentence of from 6 to 12 years. He insisted that after a drunken quarrel with the girl last August 17 near a church on a deserted road she plunged over a five-foot embankment, fatally injuring herself. The state declares he admitted beating her when he broke a bottle containing whisky both had been drinking.

But on the stand the youth, former athlete at the University of Alabama and Charleroi high school, says he did not strike the girl, that he was "in love with her and always would be."

District Attorney C. Ward Eicher said he was satisfied with the verdict. The trial was featured by testimony of a group of physicians, some called by the state; others by the defense. No two of the doctors agreed in their diagnosis as to what actually caused the death of Viola.

Some Are Wondering. News For 25,000,000 Families.

H. G. Wells' Dr. Moreau. Is War Starting? By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CHICAGO, Mar. 11.—Chicago, like some other places, is a little uncertain as to what has been happening for five or six years past and more uncertain as to what will happen between now and 1937. Talking to assorted citizens on fast trains and to others at the occasional stops you discover some doubt as to the possibility of everybody living at government expense forever.

IT SEEMS to be dawning on some that have worked hard, with a house and perhaps an automobile partly paid for, that it might be desirable to HOLD ON TO WHAT THEY HAVE. Not everybody seems inclined to drop the substantial bone to grab at the Huey Long-Upton Sinclair-Dr. Townsend shadow in the brook.

THERE IS GOOD NEWS for Senator Huey Long and those that are waiting for one of the Huey Long $5 000 houses that he will distribute, free to 25,000,000 families. The good news is that Chancellor Hitler's postoffice has actually perfected television and will install in Berlin homes a radio set that will bring in speeches and music, simultaneously showing on a screen the faces of speakers and artists.

Senator Long is a speaker and an artist, and while he broadcasts admirably, he cannot do himself justice without being actually seen. In his face is the play of expression, sunshine, shadow and humor such as few other faces possess. It need hardly be said that Senator Long, even as you read this, is probably arranging with German authorities to send him out 25,000,000 television sets, one for each of the 25,000,000 free houses.

LIFE IN AMERICA will take on fresh, rosy colors for the 25,000,000 families in the 25,000,000 free houses presented by Senator Long. Freed from the boredom of work by the $2,500 a year income that Senator Long will provide with each house the 25,000,000 families will sit from early dawn to late evening watching the Senator's face brought right into the little sitting room and hearing his voice. Abraham Lincoln could hardly have imagined that.

H. G. WELLS is in America to write about the New Deal. He will find some good applicable descriptive copy in his book written long ago, "The Island of Dr. Moreau".

Dr. Moreau performs some strange and horribly cruel operations in the effort to make animals speak and otherwise act like human beings.

Mr. Wells will find the new era performing strange operations on business men, to make them speak the new business language.

BIG FOREST FIRES start in a small way and a small hole in a dike may release disastrous floods. Europe worries about that "little revolt" in Greece. Thousands have been killed, rebel warships bombard their own country. Loyal government airplanes reply by bombarding government ships, seized by rebels.

A SHOT THAT KILLED the Austrian heir to the throne started the big war. Europe wonders whether these thousands of shots and bombs in Greece are to start a bigger war. Some, without good authority, accuse Mussolini of starting the revolt in Greece as a first step toward controlling the whole of Southern Europe.

Long ago Rome realized that it must rule all of the Mediterranean or lose its own power.

Perhaps Mussolini thinks the Mediterranean and lands to the north and south should be all Italian as they were once all Roman, after Carthage was destroyed. If he thinks so, he will go after them.

THE BALKAN STATES are worried and nervous. That however, is their normal condition. It will be time enough for Uncle Sam to ask "How much is this going to cost ME!" when England and France begin to worry. What Mussolini really thinks and plans no man knows. But everybody knows that the destiny of a dictator is always to go forward. There is no standing still, whether the man be Bonaparte, Mussolini, Hitler or Stalin.

WHILE THE LOYAL Greek airplanes shoot at Greek rebel airships and bombard a Greek rebel town, our friends in Cuba seeing a strike develop into a revolution, have made Havana's chief of police, Col. Pedraza, dictator for the time being. The dictator became necessary when as part of the strike, the pumping station for Havana's water supply was bombed, cutting off water from a great part of the city.

Deny Attempt To Assassinate Pope

(International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 11.—Paris reports that an attempt had been made to assassinate Pope Pius were laughed off today in a Reuter's dispatch from Rome.

"The old Mexican custom of carrying daggers led to alarmist reports of an attempt to assassinate the Pope," said Reuter's.

"A Mexican student who sought an audience was searched and found to be in possession of a dagger.

"A police investigation revealed that there was nothing against the student, and he was released."

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well as Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

N.I.R.A. Is Facing New Test Today

Constitutionality Of Measure Affecting Industry As Whole Is At Stake

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—The first test of constitutionality of the NIRA as it affects industry as a whole was slated for argument in the supreme court today.

While the court has already ruled the oil production section of NIRA unconstitutional, the decision did not embrace the act as a whole or the codes.

The court today was to hear the appeal of the Spielman Motor Sales company of New York attacking validity of the National Industrial Recovery Act, the New York enforcement law and the motor vehicle retailing code.

The case offered the possibility for a comprehensive decision settling many vital features of "new deal" policy. There also was the possibility of a restricted decision, which would leave validity of NIRA for future decisions.

Demand Injunction.

Counsel for the motor company demanded the injunction on these grounds:

1. The NIRA is unconstitutional as an invasion of the reserved power of states and unlawful delegation of power to the president.

2. The code of fair competition for the motor vehicle retailing trade went beyond the recovery act's authorization because it stifled competition and fixed prices.

3. The New York law for enforcement of national NRA codes violated the state constitution.

4. The limitation on allowances of trade-in cars violated the due process clause of the federal constitution.

In a brief filed in behalf of the state, David Blitzer, Harold H. Straus and Karl D. Loos contended that both the national recovery act and the state law are valid.

Expect Pink Slip Repeal To Pass

Vote In House Is Expected During Day—Senate To Speed Action

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—With leaders anticipating passage by a rousing vote, the Doughton resolution for repeal of "pink slip" income tax publicity was slated for house action today.

Sponsors of the repeal movement hoped to rush the resolution to the senate so passage can be sought before the treasury is compelled to bare income tax payments to public gaze.

Individual members assailed the house ways and means committee for its strong report recommending repeal of publicity, but no organized opposition has developed. Members of the newly formed house "progressive bloc" are opposed to repeal. Spokesmen said they would make no organized fight because they expect the resolution to pass.

Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina of the ways and means committee was prepared to present authoritative statements deisgned to show that income tax publicity does not produce added revenue.

Experience has shown, his committee asserted, that proper enforcement is the only successful method of compelling full payment.

McNair Planning To Stump State

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Fighting the legislative "ripper" bill, Mayor William N. McNair prepared today to leave here for an anti-ripper stump tour throughout the state—striking principally Scranton, Wilkes-Barre, Reading and Philadelphia during the week.

The bill to rip him from office and empower the governor to name a new city executive goes to the state senate today. It has already pasesd the house.

CANCEL CONCERT OF ERIE'S CHOIR

Drop Program Scheduled For Thursday Night; Plan Later Event

Principal Frank L. Orth of Senior high school today announced that a public concert of Erie Academy high school's famed A Capella choir, scheduled for Thursday, March 14, at the Cathedral, has been cancelled.

"The reason," said Mr. Orth, "is because we cannot obtain overnight accommodations here for the 68 members of the choir, one thing we had to do."

Considerable advance publicity has been given the appearance of the outstanding chooir and Mr. Orth, speaking for the Parent-Teacher association here, the choir's sponsor, said he regretted to announce the cancellation.

As a substitute for the Erie choir concert, the prime purpose of which was to raise funds for underwriting expenses of a sectional forensic and music concert here on April 12 and 13, Senior high's band and orchestra will present a concert on April 5. Ticket holders for the Erie program may have their money refunded or hold them for use at the April 5 concert of the local musicians.

Over 1,800 Northwestern Pennsylvania school pupils will compete here in forensic and music events on April 12 and 13, Mr. Orth estimated today.

Hold Up Decision In Mellon's Case

Board Defers Action Out Of Respect To Memory Of Bank President

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Out of respect for Henry E. McEldowney, Union Trust company president, who died Saturday at Atlantic City, the U. S. board of tax appeals today withheld its decision on that institution's stock transactions which have been injected into the three million dollar income tax battle between Andrew W. Mellon and the federal government.

The board permitted Frank J. Hogan, chief Mellon counsel, to withdraw Carl R. Korb, vice-president of the Union Trust, as a witness and take up another phase of the case.

Funeral services for McEldowney, president of the Mellon bank for 35 years, will be held this afternoon.

The board's decision on whether the government may cross-examine Korb on stock deals between the Union Trust and its subsidiaries probably will be handed down tomorrow.

Maxie Schmeling Wins From Hamas By Technical K. O.

Referee Stops Hamburg Germany Battle In Ninth Round To Save Hamas

Schmeling Proves To Be Better Than When He Held Title; 25,000 At Bout

(International News Service)

HAMBURG, Germany, Mar. 11—Max Schmeling, a far better fighter than when he himself was world heavyweight champion, today had earned the right for another crack at the title by pounding Steve Hamas into a helpless mass in nine rounds while 25,000 Nazis roared.

But Schmeling revealed that he still lacks the experience, or the ability to stow away a helpless foeman. Hamas only earned one even round, the fifth: he was down for almost the full count three times in a sixth-round massacre, and was hanging on the ropes in the ninth yet Schmeling was unable to score a clean knockout. It was referee Voloni who halted the bout.

Hamas, here only three weeks, appeared to be undertrained, and Charley Harvey, his manager, said that he had sprained a ligament in his left arm.

Schmeling Aggressor

He talked hopefully of a return bout to see which could win two out of three—for Hamas beat an inferior Schmeling in Philadelphia a year ago—But Schmeling had eyes for nothing but the Baer bout.

Schmeling started carrying the fight to Hamas from the very first gong, and from that moment on Hamas hardly landed a dozen good blows, and it was the German's battle all the way.

The ex-champion scored with a right and left in brisk exchanges in the first round, when both he and Hamas took a couple of hard ones on the nose. Heavy rights to the body had Hamas up against the ropes in the second frame.

Hamas Uncertain

Hamas was fighting with uncertainty, always on the defensive, while Schmeling hammered him in the face without hardly making any pretense at defending himself. Schmeling easily took the third round and by the fourth Hamas began to show traces of the terrific punishment he was taking. Hamas went into a clinch when Schmeling rained solid punches to the face and body with right and left, and the referee warned him.

Another hurricane of blows sent him down for a count of nine and then a hard right and left to the chin felled him a third time for nine counts.

Fight Is Stopped

The crowd, for Schmeling to a man, cheered Hamas's pluck, but yelled for a knockout. Schmeling charged for a finishing blow, but the gong saved Steve.

The blood streaming from his nose and mouth, Hamas stood up like a warrior for two minutes of the ninth round. "Finish him! Finish him!" the crowd bawled, but though Schmeling hammered away at a man leaning against the ropes in complete defenselessness, Schmeling's kayo punch wasn't forthcoming. The referee gave him ample time to score a knockout, but finally had to put a merciful end to the brawl.

Dicken's first work, "A Dinner at Poplar Walk" was printed in Monthly Magazines, when the author was only 21.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion of the world, put himself back in the limelight and also in a position to secure a return fight with Max Baer, present world's champion, when he battered Steve Hamas, American boxer into a state of helplessness in the ninth round of their scheduled 12 round bout at Hamburg, before 25,000 fans yesterday. The referee stopped the bout to save the former Penn State gridder from unnecessary punishment. Hamas was knocked down three time for counts of nine in the sixth stanza but gamely held out until the ninth when the crowd implored the Belgian referee, Valoni, to stop the fight. According to Charles Harvey, manager of Hamas, Steve sprained a ligament five days ago and a German physician admitted having given him treatments during the past several days. Ancil Hoffman, manager of Baer, has received a new offer of $300,000 for a Schmeling-Baer fight in the Olympic stadium in Berlin this summer, according to reports from Hamburg.

Presidents of Southern California, Stanford and the University of California warned today that collegiate athletic proselyting will not be tolerated in their schools and pleaded for cooperation of the facilities, students and alumni "if this difficult problem is to be handled" according to San Francisco reports. The statement said "there is no fundamental objection to assisting students who engage in athletics through scholarships, provided other students are given the same opportunities and those athletes obtaining scholarships are dealt with exactly as are other students. Whatever is done in connection with the support of students entering athletics should be done in the open and become a part of the public records of the institution which they attend."

With major league clubs now in training and thoughts of county ball players centered on baseball play here this spring and summer, managers of the various clubs in the Lawrence county loop will meet Wednesday night at the Sport Goods store for the purpose of determining exactly what team and the number of clubs will hold a franchise in the circuit this season. On the following night the officers of the Lawrence county circuit will attend the session of the city league managers who will meet also at the Sport Goods store. The Lawrence loop officials will give the city league officials the benefit of their experiences in operating the circuit since 1923.

THE SPORT PATROL

By JOHN J. MAHER, JR.

THE CINCINNATI REDS

When the Cincinnati Reds open the 1935 season it is possible that there will not be a man in the lineup who was with the team throughout last season. Hollingsworth and Campbell may form the battery; Mize, Kampouris, Myers, and Riggs will likely cover the infield; and Byrd, Goodman, and Pool may be the outfield starters.

Whether or not this group does start the season intact, the fact remains that the Reds will open the season with the most changed team in either league. Manager Dressen will have a colorful bunch of players and the spirit of the youthful members will likely make the Reds a vastly improved outfit. There may be more polished teams in the league but none will be more interesting to watch than the young group assembled by Larry MacPhail.

Paul Derringer and Si Johnson will be two of the starting pitchers with Al Hollingsworth, Gene Schott, Benny Frey, and Don Brennan fighting for the other three berths. Leroy Herrman, Dan MacFayden, and Tony Freitas will likely round out the hurling staff.

Four catchers, Ernie Lombardi, Gilly Campbell, Hank Erickson, and Clyde Manion, are on the roster but no more than three of them will remain. Erickson and Manion will have to fight for the bull-pen job. If Erickson shows ability, Manion may land a managerial job at one of the farms, otherwise Clyde will stick around and Erickson will get a train ride back to Louisville.

The infield has been temporarily arranged to include a quartet of youngsters averaging 23 years of age. Johnny Mize, hard hitter from Rochester, will be at first; Alex Kampouris, the No. 1 Greek in the big leagues, will play second; Billy Myers, up from Columbus by way of the Giants, is slated for short, and Lou Riggs, another Columbus rookie, will be on third.

Should any of these juveniles fail, Jim Bottomley, Gordon Slade, and Tony Piet will be around to take over the job. Joe Morrissey and Sparky Adams are also in camp.

In the outfield the five most likely to survive the final cut are Sammy Byrd, Adam Comorosky, Chick Hafey, Harlin Pool, and Ival Goodman. The other two, Lincoln Blakely and Ted Petoskey, will be farmed out for more experience. Blakely will probably land in Toronto while Fort Worth will be the destination of Petoskey.

The Reds will certainly be an interesting club to observe no matter where they finish in the 1935 race. Like Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins at Boston, Powel Crosley and Larry MacPhail have built up the team quite extensively both in player material and in minor league farm purchases.

However, unlike Yawkey, who has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars purchasing stars at their peak, the Reds have doncentrated on youthful players. The Redsox stars will be losing their zip before the team becomes fully organized. Fellows like Grove, Walberg, Johnson, Pipgras, and others can't wait many more years until someone comes along to fill the weak spots on the team. Porter, Cissell, and Morgan have already departed; a wad of dough was wasted there.

Cincinnati has adopted a policy at the other extreme. MacPhail not only has purchased many youngsters, but the Reds are getting rid of the veterans as fast as a rookie can be found to fill the spot.

Watch the Reds grow in strength over the next two, three, and fours years. They may not get so high this season, but by 1936 they should be established as a first division club, and in 1937 Cincinnati will be a real threat in the National league.

Softball Meeting Next Thursday To Be Important One

Softball Teams Asked To Meet At Y. M. C. A. Thursday Night At 8 O'clock

Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. the 1935 softball season in New Castle will be officially ushered in when President Charles 'Bugs" Walther calls the meeting to order, at 8 o'clock sharp. All managers who desire to enter teams in the city league are asked to be present.

It is planned to have a fast eight or ten team league this year. There will be only one league and it will be 60 foot base lines. The game here will be played under the National Softball Association rules. There will not be any deviation.

The National Radiators will be the defending champs this year. They have already two legs on the handsome Wignall Trophy cup. Any teams in Ellwood City wishing to join the New Castle City league are invited to the meeting.

The softball league here this summer is going to be bigger and better than ever and judging from the interest being shown in the game, there are many fine games in store for the fans.

The only drawback to the softball game here in New Castle is suitable playing fields. This matter will be taken up with council at a later date.

Sunday School Games Tonight

Three games will be played in the Sunday school league at the "Y." floor tonight. The first game will start at eight o'clock. In the first tussle the Mahoning Presbyterians will play the First Baptists and this game will have championship bearing, as the Baptists are undefeated to date.

In the second game the St. Michaels "B" team will tangle with the Third U. P. quintet, and in the third game the Highland U. P. team will battle the First Christian "B" quintet.

Pulaskis Card Heavy Schedule

K. Pulaski basketball team will be quite busy this week according to Business Manager Ryczaj. Tuesday the Pulaski will have the first Christians of the Church League at the Pulaski floor.

Thursday the New Castle Sokols will play the Pulaskis at the Oakland floor and next Sunday the Polish Falcons will play at the Pulaski floor. Coach Walter Sniezek is drilling his team hard for these important games.

Lincolns Upset Boosters, 47-26

Outclassing their opponents throughout the contest, the Lincoln basketball team won its thirteenth victory of the season, defeating the Boosters, 47-26, in a game played on the Lincoln floor, Saturday.

McCarthy Thinks Yankees Will Be In Thick Of Race

Gehrig And Gomez Still Belong To Yankees And Are Great Stars

McCarthy Has Confidence In Infield; Combs Back In Shape

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 11.—Joseph Vincent McCarthy, the gentleman who manages this New York ball club for better, for worse and occasionally for neither, went back 25 years today and seemed to become again the small boy who whistles passing the grave yard at twilight.

Twilight in the life of the Yankees was reached some days ago when 4,000 gathered here to watch the Boston Braves and their new right fielder, vice president, assistant manager and exhibit A, while less than 200 viewed the strangely forlorn Yankees. It used to be the other way around here, but that was before the Yankees evicted Ruth and the Braves gave him sanctuary.

McCarthy Confident.

Nevertheless, even with Ruth still on the premises under a one-year lease, it would only have meant one more body for the Yanks to bury. One by one, the great champions of 1932 are being piously but promptly laid to rest, so that before long very little will remain except the headstones.

But Mr. McCarthy says everything is going to be all right. After all, he can still whistle.

"All I can say for the Tigers is that they'd better not be any worse," he announced today. "As it is, I figure we'll beat them anyhow. My pitching is better and it was downright good last year. So is my infield, with Crosetti just maturing at shortstop and Rolfe coming on like a house afire at third base in the closing weeks of last season.

Outfield Is Good.

"My outfield defense is better. My attack is at least equal."

If this was intended as an implied criticism of Ruth, Mr. McCarthy declined with hauteur to confirm the idea.

"We were not," said he, "Ruth belongs to another club."

So, I suspect, will several more of the 1932 relics before another year has passed. Lazzeri is to play second base again and he was almost fired four years ago. He hasn't been really right for several years but there's nobody else except Don Heffner and he couldn't hit with the blunt end of a banjo.

"Combs is as good as ever," says McCarthy.

But Combs hasn't been as good as ever for several years and that crash into the wall in St. Louis, resulting in a fracture of the skull, didn't add anything. Otherwise, people would be going around looking for the hardest stone wall. Combs does look good down here but he's at a fairly elderly age to be fracturing skulls with impunity.

Gehrig-Gomez Great.

With this exception and that of Ruth, the club is pretty much the same outfit that finished second last year and probably won't do any worse this time. For years it always has been the club to beat and it still is, with two of the game's greatest in Gehrig, the hitter, and Gomez, the pitcher. He won 26 games last year.

"And," says McCarthy, "he hasn't started to come to his best. My other starters are Johnny Broaca, who came to the club without training last year and ought to be twice as good; Charley Ruffing, winner of 19 and still good, and Johnny Murphy, who will always be good because he knows where to throw that ball.

"Then, there's Walter Brown, the best pitcher in the minor league last year; Vito Tamulis, who came from Newark and pitched us a shutout at the close of the season, and Jimmy Deshong, a little wild but a winner for us in 1934."

Pitt Will Play West Virginia

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Coach H. C. Carlson pointed his Pittsburgh Panthers today for their tussle Wednesday against West Virginia University at Morgantown.

A victory will give Pitt undisputed claim to the eastern intercollegiate basketball title while a win for West Virginia will place that club in a tie with Pitt for first place.

Pitt scored a 41 to 25 victory over Penn State Saturday night.

Duquesne closed its most successful basketball season in history Saturday by winning 46 to 32 from Geneva. The only defeat suffered during the season by the Dukes was administered by Pitt.

School Budget Work Delayed

New Castle Board Waits For Action On Measures At Harrisburg

Work on the budget for the New Castle schools for the coming year has reached the point where further work must be delayed until the budget committee has some idea of what the General Assembly will do in the way of relief. For this reason it will not be possible to send out the school tax notices at the same time the city tax notices go out this year.

Several questions stand in the way of further budget work. First is whether the Department of Public Instruction will cut the school appropriations this coming year. For the current year the state appropriation was cut approximately 15 per cent. This was accomplished by giving the schools the full amount for the first semester and only 70.5 per cent for the second semester. New Castle received $58,-352 for the first semester and should have received the same amount for the second semester. Instead, it will receive $41,138, a cut of $17,-214.

Salaries and Increments

The act which held the annual increment for teachers in abeyance and which permitted a 10 per cent reduction in teachers' salaries has expired. Unless it is renewed the full schedule of the Edmonds act will prevail. The difference to the New Castle school district is about $90,523.

This amount represents nearly two mills in tax levy, but the school board does not want to increase the tax levy. The members feel that it is as high now as it should be, higher than the people care to pay, but it is also a fact that the board has reduced expenditures to the point where further reduction is practically impossible.

The situation is a precarious one, and like other school boards, the local board is waiting for word from Harrisburg. Until some indication is given of what will happen the board must delay the finishing of the budget.

Traffic Census Will Be Taken

Traffic Survey Will Likely Be Made On All Principal Roads Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 11.—If you see a chap standing off the road this summer, he may not be "thumbing" a ride. Instead, he may just be counting automobiles and trucks to get a traffic census of Pennsylvania highways.

The state planning board today was considering a traffic survey as one of thousands of projects to provide work for the unemployed from the proposed $4,000,000,000 federal works relief program.

Will Provide Work

The project would have two purposes. It would provide work for several thousand jobless, stationed on every federal, state and secondary highway in the state and it would furnish an accurate picture of the state's needs for future highway construction.

Plans call for checking the number of pleasure cars, trucks and buses and other types of vehicles traveling over every highway. The traffic count would be made twice, in all probability, once during light traffic periods and once during the summer months. Travel every hour of the day and night would be tabulated.

STOCKS

Stock Market Firmer Today

Market Is Quiet But Firm As Selling Wave Appears To Have Abated

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—The stock market was a quiet but generally firm affair today as the steady dribble of selling which characterized Saturday's session appeared to have abated. The firmer tone was apparently due to the inflationary implications of the treasury's action in using devaluation profits to redeem government bonds.

There still remained a number of weak spots, however. Socony-vacuum was under renewed pressure selling down fractionally to a new low for the year. This served to dampen speculative enthusiasm on other oil shares.

General Motors and Chrysler were fractionally higher on reports that first quarter earnings would be favorable. U. S. Steel and other industrials were firm.

Railroad stocks after a somewhat easier opening took on a better appearance as the session wore on. Union Pacific after opening down more than a point firmed and recovered all but a fraction of its loss.

New York Central, Delaware & Hudson and Atchison were well supported.

American Telephone was a strong spot in the utilities rising more than half point. The power and light shares, though, were highly irregular with Consolidated Gas, Public Service and American Water Works just barely steady.

Liquors, farm implements and specialties were quiet and firm.

Gangland Seeks To Prevent Probe

INNOCENT GIRL AMONG WOUNDED

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—Deadly crackling of gangland guns, clanging of ambulances and the somber rumble of the morgue cart provided the overture for the second week of the grand jury's investigation of vice and rackets in New York City today.

Two more men were killed and an innocent 15-year-old girl was wounded as the underworld continued its desperate and bloody campaign to frustrate the attack on its fabulously lucrative commerce.

The murder were the eighth and ninth since the investigation began last Monday.

Threats Are Made

Threats from hired assassins failed to terrorize one star witness, however, a pretty, 19-year-old brunette who was scheduled to go before the grand jury today. She has promised to tell how she was held as a white slave for four weeks by a Brooklyn vice syndicate.

Complaining that her health was shattered by the ordeal to which she was subjected, she already has told her story in private to District Attorney Dodge. She named one of the vice overlords and accused a syndicate lawyer of conniving with magistrates and handpicked jurors to obtain dismissal of vice cases.

The girl has been threatened with death and is being guarded carefully.

Bar Association Acts

Meantime the bar association today moved against the basic evil which permits crime to flourish—the crooked lawyers who employ all the legal tricks required to free chronic and notorious malefactors. Thomas D. Thacker, president, declared swift disbarment proceedings will be brought against any lawyer shown to be connected with the racket rings which mulct the public of millions annually.

Antoinette Pascucci, 15, was strolling in the Mulberry Bend section with her two-year old nephew, Joseph Tamoasullo, when she became the accidental victim of gangsters late yesterday.

She was walking past a group of flashily dressed men when a volley of shots was fired from a speeding automobile. The girl fell to the sidewalk, wounded and screaming with pain, while the car roared away and the intended victims fled in terror.

Only a few hours before, Curtis Jackson, a negro, was mowed down in a Harlem street. In his pockets were telltale "rent party" cards, linking him with a favorite vice syndicate. He died without talking.

Douglas Burrell, 32, negro longshoreman, was slain in another section of Harlem.

Mellon Case To Be Resumed

Counsel Awaiting Ruling Of U. S. Tax Appeal Board

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Primed for the fourth round in a three million dollar income tax battle, counsel today awaited the U. S. tax appeal board's ruling on what courses may be pursued in the government's battle against Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury.

If the board rules in favor of the government, doors of Union Trust company and several of its subsidiaries—financial pillars of the "House of Mellon"—most likely will be thrown wide open. If the Mellon side is triumphant, Chief Government Counsel Robert H. Jackson will be forced to traverse a different course to prove the former cabinet member owes $3,089,261 in additional taxes and penalties on his 1931 income.

Frank J. Hogan, chief attorney for Mellon, who wants a refund of $139,045, insists testimony at the hearings must be confined solely to matters involving Mellon. Jackson, through cross-examination of Carl R. Korb, vice-president of the Union Trust, desires to expose stock deals between that institution and its subsidiaries. He charges these concerns operated a "tax evasion mill" and Mellon benefited in at least one instance.

For this reason, the decision the board must make is important. Should the government be upheld, Jackson will be in a position to obtain information concerning many things he was denied at the start of the case three weeks ago when subpoenas for records of the Union Trust and Mellon National bank were quashed.

In the same manner, however, an unfavorable ruling will limit his interrogation of Korb and other witnesses who are to follow.

Greek Rebels Are Reported Withdrawing Before Troops

Greek Rebels Being Routed By Loyal Army

By D. R. GELEJI
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BELGRADE, Mar. 11.—Seventy thousand Greek government troops cutting a victorious swath eastward of the River Struma, wheeled around like a 20-mile human sickle today to consolidate their gains and press their offensive in the Kavalla area to the south and east.

Meeting with only scattered resistance from the 30,000 rebels mustered against them according to information reaching here, the loyal troops filtered into and beyond Seres.

Fog that had hampered their movements for days finally lifted today, permitting the government army to move ahead rapidly in the tracks of the retreating rebels.

Capture 500

Twenty rebels were reported slain, many more wounded, and at least 500 captured at Seres, while the government professed to have lost only 15 dead and 300 wounded in the entire ten days of the uprising.

Airplanes were credited with winning most of the engagements for the government partisans, by terrorizing the rebels with frequent bombing raids.

Although War Minister George Kondylis, who is personally leading the drive in Eastern Macedonia, seemed to be the master of the situation on land, former premier Eleutherios Venizelos, leader of the rebellion from his headquarters in Crete, was still in power so far as the sea was concerned.

Reports of government success were borne out when Premier Tsaldaris rejected reported offers of major powers, as well as some of the Balkan governments to mediate.

Claim Revolt Collapse

Athens, Mar. 11—Collapse of the Greek revolution on land was claimed by the government today.

Rebels were reported in full flight after loyal troops had captured a wide area east of the Struma river,

Butler Youth To Face Trial

Court And Jury Will Hear Voluntary Manslaughter Charges Pushed By State

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 11.—Twelve-year-old Clarence Halleran today faced trial as the youngest crime suspect in local history following his indictment on charges of voluntary manslaughter for the fatal shooting of a playmate.

The county grand jury ignored a murder count in the charge list in deliberating the case against Clarence in connection with the death last December 28 of Kenneth Oesterling, aged 10. Young Halleran was arrested with another boy, Wendell Geibel, for the shooting that is alleged to have taken place when a quarrel broke out while the boys were shooting a rifle, but the latter was later discharged.

Treasury To Use Gold "Profits" In Reducing Debt

U. S. To Retire Bonds and Cut Debt To Extent Of $675,000,000

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Dipping into the "profits" which resulted from devaluation of the dollar, the treasury today moved to reduce the national debt by $675,000,000.

The operation involved a call for retirement of the only two outstanding bond issues against which national banks may issue currency. They were the two per cent Consols of 1930, called for July 1, and the two per cent Panama Canal loan bonds, called for August 1.

Retirement of the bonds will use up the remaining unallocated portion of the $2,812,000,000 "profit" which accrued to the government when the dollar was devalued.

Bank notes outstanding against the bonds to be retired will necessarily be replaced by Federal Reserve notes, and back of these, the treasury announced, will be an equal amount of gold certificates, issued to the Federal Reserve Banks. The actual gold will be car-marked and remain in the treasury.

Governor Will Seek To Force Tax Bill Action

Fears Federal Government Will Cease To Provide For Relief Burden

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Mar. 11—Disturbed by the delay his $203,000,000 tax program has faced in the the legislature, Gov. George H. Earle today was prepared to wield the gubernatorial "big stick" for the first time in his administration to obtain action on the more important revenue measures.

Fear that the federal government may cease to bear the state's entire relief burden after available funds are exhausted this week, prompted the governor to request administration leaders to speed action on the bills, especially the measure boosting the state gasoline tax two cents. Designed to raise $40,000,000 during the biennium, the bill was regarded by the governor as an immediate source of revenue to meet the relief crisis.

Hearings Concluded.

Hearings on virtually all of the important revenue measures having been concluded, the executive confronted the ways and means committee with demands for action. As a result, the gasoline, amusement and tobacco tax bills, amended with a two-year limitation, were to be released from the committee tonight or not later than tomorrow. Other administration bills imposing additional taxes on manufacturers and insurance companies will follow quickly.

Governor Earle was to submit to the legislature tonight the administration's income tax bill designed to lift the tax burden from real estate by supplying funds for education. Republican income tax measures introduced in the house likely will die in committee while the administration attempts to achieve quick en-

City Will Ask Rate Hearing

WHITE REPORTS SURVEY IS MADE

During a meeting of council held in the city building today Solicitor Robert White was authorized to request the public service commission to set a date for a hearing when the city can offer testimony in order that the commission may determine the fairness of electric rates paid here.

The commission is also to be asked to determine whether the city is entitled to recover any part of what the city has paid; and what the city shall pay in the future.

The move to authorize White to take whatever steps he considered necessary was offered by Councilman Davies and passed unanimously. It followed presentation of a report from White in which he said the survey has been completed. The report also detailed the moves taken by the city from the fall of 1934 when the city employed Burns & McDonnell to conduct a survey here for the purpose of determining whether commercial and domestic rates were fair.

Eight Philadelphia Attorneys Face Charges

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 11—Eight Philadelphia attorneys, among them a number of the most prominent criminal lawyers in this city, today faced the five judges of the common pleas court, sitting en banc as court and jury, on charges of professional misconduct.

The proceedings, without precedent in the annuls of Philadelphia jurisprudence, culminate a ten-month drive of the Philadelphia Bar Association to break up an alleged unethical alliance between lawyers and the underworlds.

The attorneys, although not on trial have been ordered to show cause why they should not be disciplined, if they fail to make out adequate cases for themselves, they face punishment ranging from a reprimand to disbarment.

Joe Stinnett, colored, 32 years old, was placed on trial before Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning, for the murder of Clinton Jones, also colored, of Crescentdale, on the evening of December 9, 1934.

Unusual Situation

Owing to the large number of jurors who were summoned expressing themselves as opposed to capital punishment, almost the entire forenoon was taken up in the selection of a jury.

In murder cases the jurors are examined separately as to their knowledge of the case, and their attitude toward capital punishment. In all forty jurors were called, and twenty-one of them expressed themselves as opposed to capital punishment.

Old court house attaches stated that they had never seen so many jurors on a panel who were opposed to capital punishment. When the

Proposal For Use Of Old Post Office For Library Is Discussed

Members of council convened in the city building today and made reply to the library board's proposal that the city buy from the federal govenment the old post office building and turn it over to the directors for library purposes.

Under the library board's proposal the city would take from them a relinquishment of the present library building so that it might be used by the city to erect a new city building or used for whatever other city purpose it might be suited.

Matter Of Funds

The city council stated in the letter that they are opposed to issuing bonds to pay for the old post office building.

Council declares in the letter that "if you will provide the money to pay for the building that the council will pass necessary legislation to permit you to acquire the building, providing the credit of the city is in no way impaired."

The council offers several suggestions as to how the library can proceed to possibly secure the old post office building.

Council also went on record as stating that "we will not consider the purchase or building of a new city building, and it would be folly for us to accept back from your board the use of the present library site, when we are of the opinion that the city cannot make any economical use of it."

Rev. S. B. Copeland Resigns As Pastor Of Third Church

Came To New Castle In 1921; Work Here Has Been Most Successful

Coming as a surprise to his congregation, Rev. S. B. Copeland, D.D., pastor of the Third United Presbyterian church, announced his resignation on Sunday morning to take effect April 1. He has accepted the pastorate of the Wheeling United Presbyterian church in Wheeling, W. Va. He has been pastor of the local church since January, 1921.

Rev. Copeland came to New Castle from Harrisville, Pa., where he spent two and a half years after graduation from the seminary. At that time the Third U. P. church was a small frame building at the corner of East

Washington street and Beckford street. The congregation numbered 300 and the Sabbath school 350. Today the church membership is 1,050 and the Sabbath school 1,134.

Built New Church

The impressive increase in church and Sabbath school enrollment came as the result of his continued energies. Not long after coming here it became apparent that the church building was too small and a new church was built at the corner of East Washington and Adams streets, an imposing brick structure.

Rev. Copeland succeeds Dr. Charles Robinson in the Wheeling pastorate. Dr. Robinson was pastor of that church for 34 years but died some months ago. Since then the pulpit has been vacant and the congregation has been looking for a successor. After hearing many candidates an unanimous call was extended to Rev. Copeland.

The Wheeling church is an old historic one and in the past century has had but three ministers, Rev. Copeland being the fourth. In size it is not as large as the Third U. P. church.

Michigan Officials Start Relentless Search For Killer Of Ypsilanti Boy

SCRATCHES RUDE MARK ON CHEST

(International News Service)

YPSILANTI, Mich., Mar. 11.—The hunt for the maniac, who, with a sharp, two-edged stiletto-like instrument three times pierced the heart of 8-year-old Richard Streicher Jr., fiendishly carved a rude cross resembling an "X" on his chest and then jammed the body under a foot-bridge near the center of the city, went on relentlessly today.

Combined city, county and state police spread their lines in an intensive search for three degenerates with police records, any of whom, police said, are capable of the brutal stabbing.

Meanwhile several outstate tips which were run down proved futile.

Slayer Of Jeweler Will Go On Trial

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Mar. 11—John W. Koziar, confessed slayer of Samson Rosenshein, Masontown jeweler, will go on trial late this week, it was indicated today after a special grand jury returned a indictment against him.

Attorneys Arthur L. Byrne and Joseph Baer, appointed to defend the suspect, have given no hints as to what course may be followed as a defense for Koziar. The prosecution, District Attorney Wade K. Newell said, will demand the death penalty. The killing occurred March 3 during an alleged holdup attempt.

A possibility that a plea would be entered in an attempt to escape a death sentence was rumored, but unless such a plea is made the case is likely to begin about Friday.

Baldwin Charges League Of Nations Peace Plan Fails

Says League Has Failed As Preserver Of Peace And Security

DEFENDS ACTION TO ADD ARMAMENT

Replies For Government To Attack Made By Laborite In Assembly

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Mar. 11.—The League of Nations has failed as a preserver of peace and security in Europe, Stanley Baldwin, lord president of the council, told the House of Commons this afternoon in defending the British government's intention to abandon disarmament and build up her defense forces on land and sea and in the air.

"It is difficult," he admitted, "to look for collective security in the present state of the League of Nations."

Baldwin denied Britain had taken the lead in world rearmament and declared the nation wants nothing more than equality with whatever power is in striking distance.

Discussing naval increases, he said the United States is building up to

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

(Special To The News)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Mar. 11.—Wasn't that a remarkable will that Oliver Wendell Holmes left? Imagine a man giving his money to the government at a time when 120,000,000 people are trying to get it away from the government, or trying to keep from paying 'em even what we owe 'em.

At least 80 years of service to his country and he accumulated some money, and is so appreciative of what his country has done for him, that he wants to return it.

All we hear is "What's the matter with the country?" "What's the matter with the world?" There ain't but one word wrong with every one of us in the world, and that's selfishness.

Yours,

Will Rogers.

The roads are hub deep with the mud, the fields are damp and soggy and where the cowslips have their home the place is wet and boggy. The farmer views the falling rain and thinks in terms of taters, while city folks pull on their gums and spats and sometimes gaters. But all of them agree on this the rain will soon be needed, when hay and turnips have been sown, and garden plots are seeded. For usually the month of June brings drought and dry brown hay field, which only cuts the farmer down when he gets in his hay yield. So let it rain and rain some more, we'll need it ere the summer's through, in raising things to eat and wear, the weathers up to fifty-two.

DRASTIC MOVES AGAINST CUBAN STRIKE

Cuban Cabinet Takes Drastic Action To Put Down Revolutionary Strike

By RICHARD ARMSTRONG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HAVANA, Mar. 11—Determined to put down by drastic measures the revolutionary strike that has already tied up the island with half a million workers participating, the cabinet today issued an emergency decree declaring that a "state of war" exists throughout the Republic.

The decree means that a drastic military regime will hold power in Cuba until order is restored.

Capital Is Calm

The capital was outwardly calm today, but intermittent shots and bomb explosions rang through deserted streets during the night.

Two persons were wounded by bombs and a two year old child was badly hurt when a bus, manned by soldiers, was fired on. Scores were added to the hundreds already under arrest.

Only troop trains were running on the railways, and street cars, busses and taxicabs, heavily guarded by police or soldiers, rolled through the streets, only at wide intervals.

Soldiers, sailors and policemen, armed with rifles, vigorously enforced military Governor Pedraza's decree forbidding the congregation of more than two persons in public.

Meanwhile, the central strike committee, bending all its efforts towards completing the general strike, had plastered Havana with posters calling on all workers to walk out today.

The unions, had the opposition of business and industrial men, who called on President Carlos Mendita, offering their support.

President Mendieta, against whom the stroke is aimed, reiterated the government's determination to suppress the walkout, calling it a "movement against the wealth, peace and integrity of the Cuban family not inspired by honest motives."

Rodolfo Mendes Penate, former secretary of labor in President Mendita's cabinet, and Arango Herrero, director of the national lottery, were among those arrested.

Rumors that numerous soldiers and students had been killed in fighting during the night could not be confirmed.

GOVERNOR WILL SEEK TO FORCE TAX BILL ACTION

actment of its own bill so that its constitutionality may be tested in the courts by the attorney general.

See House Action On Bills.

Acting under administration pressure, the ways and means committee was prepared to dispose of most of the governor's tax bills, except possibly the severance tax on natural resources, before the end of the week. Because of protests from gas and oil operators who claim the imposts would force smaller wells out of competition, the ways and means committee will perform a major surgical operation on the severance tax bill or perhaps drop it altogether.

The governor's "chain store" tax bill, passed by the house last week with a healthy bi-partisan majority, will reach the senate tonight. Unless unexpected opposition is encountered in the Democratic house, the administration's other tax bills will soon be dumped into the lap of the Republican senate where further delay is anticipated.

Tonight, with little if any opposition, the house will pass finally the series of five bills transferring $4,200,000 from the motor license and fire insurance tax funds to continue old age and blind pensions and pay overdue hospital subsidies.

HILLSVILLE MAN IS FATLLY HURT

gone to see Father Rocco, formerly of Hillsville. According to persons who had seen them, travelling along the road, the machine was traveling fast.

As they neared Energy, Catale is said to have cut too close in negotiating a curve almost collided with a machine travelling towards Ellwood City, forcing the latter car off the roadway. As he attempted to swing out, he is said to have lost control of the car, which skidded off the road and collided with a telephone pole, tearing the top off the car, a four passenger coupe. It travelled fifty feet further before coming to a stop.

Brought To Hospital

Mike Wier, of Ellwood City, who came upon the scene just after the crash, brought the injured people to the New Castle hospital. He told highway patrolman Cunningham who investigated the crash, that Catale had passed him shortly before the crash, travelling at a high rate of speed.

Mrs. George Bright, of R. F. D. No. 1, who was returning to her home after visiting her mother, nearby, witnessed the crash. She stated that Catale had attempted to cut in too close in rounding the curve and forced the driver of a car proceeding towards Ellwood City off the road. She was under the impression that the two cars had brushed each other in passing, which may have caused Catale to lost control of the machine.

Catale, it was stated, had borrowed the car which figured in the collision from Frank Panella, of Youngstown, with whom Catale worked at the Carbon quarry.

The accident victim was born in Italy but came to the United States when a boy in his early 'teens and took up residence in the Hillsville locality, where he was also known as James Maturo. For the past 24 years he had been an employe of the Lake Erie Limestone Company, and had been a member of the St. Lawrence church of Hillsville, and of the St. Lucia and Artistia societies.

He is survived by his wife, Jennie and eleven children, Dominick, Victor, Joe, Antoinette, Peter, John, Tony, Andrew, Francis, Samuel and James.

Funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a. m. Wednesday in the St. Lawrence church, Hillsville and interment will be made in the St. Lawrence cemetery.

President Faces Political Crisis

Six District Movements Threaten His Legislative Leadership

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—President Roosevelt faced a grave political crisis today as the senate resumed consideration of his $4,880,000,000 work relief bill, with six distinct revolts threatening his legislative leadership.

All other controversies may be overshadowed by a direct progressive attack on the president. Progressives in both parties were aroused over reports that the administration is trying to "buy votes" on the McCarran prevailing wage amendment, through promises of work relief appropriations. One report stated two senators had agreed to switch their votes on this issue, thereby defeating the amendment, after being promised large appropriations for their state.

May Cause Break

A number of progressives threatened direct attacks on the president. It might cause an open break between Mr. Roosevelt and such Republican progressives as Norris, Johnson and Lafollette, who supported him in the 1932 campaign. It might alienate Democratic progresssives on whom he must count to win in 1936.

The other revolsts were:

1. By progressives in both parties to secure adoption of the McCarran prevailing wage amendment, which orders payment of prevailing wage rates on relief projects, even if monthy wages are limited.

2. By conservatives in both parties, led by the Democrats, Glass, Byrd and Adams, to slash the appropriation to $1,880,000 and continue direct reflief.

3. By conservatives in both parties, led by the Republican Townsend to force the administration to finance the work relief program in the same way liberty bond issues were financed.

4. By inflationists in both parties to force financing of the world relief program, first by direct issues of U. S. treasury notes, and secondly, by mandatory silver inflation.

5. By Senator Huey P. Long (D) of Louisiana.

The Long revolt probably worried the administration more than the others.

treaty limits, which Britain has not done.

"It is shown," he said, "that even under the treaty we did not secure equality."

Replies To Censure

Baldwin replied for the government to a vote of censure moved by Clement Attlee,, laborite, because of the recent controversial "white paper" which announced the arms increases and served to estrange London and Berlin by vigorously attacking the rearmament of the Reich.

Attlee accused the government of hypocrisy in its international dealings, bitterly criticized allusions to American armament in the "white paper" and charged Britain with "repudiating" the league.

His Baldwin deprecated, stating Britain truly desires the "universality" of the league, but he admitted this nation could no longer look to Geneva for protection and security.

"If the house expected me to stand in a white sheet because of the 'white paper' it has made a great mistake," he said.

Cold Genuine

Baldwin attempted to dispose of the current belief that German indignation over the "white paper" caused postponement of the long scheduled conference between Chancellor Hitler and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon in Berlin.

He insisted the chancellor's cold was a genuine illness, not a diplomatic one, and told the house Sir John would be visiting Berlin in about two weeks, "when we hope Chancellor Hitler will be in full possession of his normal strength."

"There is no reason," he said, "why negotiations already begun should not lead to a new era in Europe."

REPORT ROBBERY

Police today received a report of a robbery at Cooper's casino, West Washington street. A marble machine was broken and the cash register robbed of about $5.

GREEK REBELS BEING ROUTED BY LOYAL ARMY

including the rebel cities of Seres, Drama, Demirhissir, and Kavalla.

The government announced the capture of 3,000 prisoners at Seres, the remainder of the rebels were said to be retreating in disorder towards the mountains of the East.

Rout Rebels

London, Mar. 11—Rout of the Greek rebels in Macedonia at the hands of government forces was virtually complete today, said an exchange telegraph message from Athens.

The rebels were reported to have abandoned Seres, Drama and Kavalla.

Rebel officers were deserting and fleeing to the north, a Reuter dispatch said, leaving their men to shift for themselves. The government claimed to have taken three thousand prisoners in the Seres operations.

Troops Rushed Ahead

Athens, Mar. 11—Government troops steadily pushing forward after retreating revels, won a victory that may prove the determining factor in the Venizelos revolution when they captured the city of Seres, insurgent's stronghold, according to government claims today.

The rebels were said by the government to have abandoned the town, fleeing farther eastward in Greek Macedonia, toward Drama and the Bulgarian frontier mountains.

A detachment of cavalry entered Seres at 8 a. m. at the head of the government forces.

The government also announced a victory on the sea, frustrating an attempt by the rebels' stolen fleet to come to the aid of the land revolt.

Abandon Vessel

Rebel officers and members of the crew of the cruiser Helle abandoned the vessel at Kavalla, after the heavy bombardment by government vessels and land batteries.

Loyalist officers immediately took possession of the Helle, which was expected to proceed immediately to Salonika, headquarters of the government's land forces.

Communist officers, according to the government, were found to be in charge of some of the rebels when 150 were taken prisoners in the drive towards Seres.

Casualties in the government's "big push" were said to be small, because the rebels were falling back without putting up any strong resistance.

The anti government army planned to draw up a new position east of Seres, from the vantage point of the mountains, and wait for the government to attack.

Thirty airplanes helped the loyal troops. "an enormous number of dead," were left after an aerial bombardment of the rebel barracks at Heraclea, in which pilots said they completely destroyed the buildings, according to government sources.

Sunday, following the announcement of Rev. Copeland's resignation, C. C. McKibben, congregation chairman, by authority of the session, announced a congregational meeting for Wednesday evening, March 13, at 7:30 to acquiesce in the resignation of Rev. Copeland and to appoint a pulpit committee.

Rev. Copeland came to a small, struggling church. He leaves a church over three times the size of the one he came to. He has been tireless in his efforts to advance the work of the congregation and in his work he has been ably assisted by his wife. The Third U. juror expressed himself as opposed to it, he was promptly challenged by the commonwealth, and so dismissed from the case.

Each juror as called was required to look upon the prisoner. He was then asked if the prisoner was any kin to him or her. The next question was regarding capital punishment.

The commonwealth is represented by District Attorney Mont L. Ailey and the defense by Samuel L. Clark. None of the defendant's friends sat with him at the counsel table.

The crime for which Stinnett is being tried occurred near his home at Crescentdale. The two men had been having an argument. While it was in progress Stinnett is alleged to have gone into the house and secured a gun. The argument was renewed and it is claimed that Jones had bantered Stinnett to shoot, when the latter fired the shot that cost Jones his life.

We notice where a lawyer pleading for his client before a jury stated, that the fact that the young people had been drinking should be taken into consideration as the majority of the young people today did the same.
From the fact that it is legal for the government to make drunkards out of our younger generation, we do not believe that it gives them the privilege to commit crime while under the influence of liquor and be excused from it.
This statement is a slur on our Christian young people and there should be a protest of such statements made or printed in the public press.

YOUNG JUDAEAN CLUBS CONDUCT FINE PROGRAM

On the eve of March 8 the Young Judaeans of New Castle conducted most impressively a religious program at Beth Shalom center, which was largely attended by New Castleites. Rabbi Schwartz opened the activities by introducing the speakers, and Ted Marlin conducted the Hebrew part, while Paul Cornfield was in charge of the English procedure.

A complete history of the Young Judaea was given by Beatrice Sandler, and the Junior Zionist movement was told, which related back to 26 years ago. From its very inception Young Judaea has aimed to inculcate in the hearts and minds of Jewish boys and girls a love for Palestine and desire to be identified with the rebuilding of the national Jewish homeland.

Sara Kohn revealed what this group has done and its present accomplishments, and Sam Safier gave an interesting account of the purposes of the Young Judaea Club, stressing the "forward outlook" of promotion in the lives of each Jewish boy and girl.

Each participant, in these ceremonies, performed their work beautifully and it was concluded with the singing of Hatikovh.

The Young Judaeans acted as hosts and hostesses throughout the evening.

Leaders responsible for the splendid and capable work of this group include Ada Gillis, Jeanette Ginsberg and Louis Shifman.

Bridgettes Are Guests

Miss Blanche Claypool was hostess to the Bridgettes club in her home on East Washington street, Friday evening. The early hours were devoted to a contest in bridge, honor scores being held by Miss Dorothy Latimer and Miss Ruby Neme. Following, with the assistance of the latter two, the hostess served a dainty collation at the small tables, which had been rearranged and decorated cleverly in tones of green. Chat and music filled in the balance of the evening.

A novel "kindergarten kiddies party" will feature their next gathering on March 21, in the home of Miss Edna Zasserena on North Ray street. The participants on this occasion will be admitted dressed in youngsters attire, and will be one of their special parties of the month.

Daughters Union Veterans

Daughters of Union Veterans will quilt a half day on Tuesday in their rooms in the City building.

TIMELY PROGRAM FOR NORTH BEAVER CLUB

Several topics of interest to gardeners at this time of year will be taken up and discussed, next Wednesday evening, at the meeting of the North Beaver Garden club in the home of Mrs. Flossie Andrews at Mt. Jackson.

These are listed as follows: Hotbeds, their construction and soil; How to start vegetables in cold frames; Treatment of seeds before planting; Sowing of hardy annuals outdoors; Annuals that self sow; Native shrubs for natural effects; The growing of shrubs for natural effects; The growing of shrubs for cutting. Mrs. John H. Brewster will be in charge of the program assisted by George Clark.

A question box promises to create much interest and there will be music under the direction of Howard Gilmore.

Members will answer roll call by naming flowers, the first letter of which is the same as the individual's name.

DESSERT-BRIDGE AT FIELD CLUB WEDNESDAY

The ladies dessert-bridge parties continue at the New Castle Field club with much enthusiasm, and on Wednesday afternoon another of the series will be held with Mrs. C. B. Fister presiding as hostess.

Following the serving at 1:30 o'clock, card playing will be featured, with prizes to be given those successful in winning honor scores.

Plan For Party

Plans for a card party, to take place Thursday evening, March 14, in the Legion home, were made by the members of the Harry L. McBride Post Auxiliary of the V. F. W. at their meeting last Thursday. The attendance at the meeting, which was presided over by President, Mrs. Ruth Conner, was smaller than usual due to illness in the homes of many of the members. Mrs. Orville Potter will be chairlady for the evening.

The Auxiliary went on record as endorsing the bill H. R. 1, known as the Patman bill, providing for the payment of the bonus and sent telegrams to representative Eckert and the two senators from Pennsylvania, asking their support of this measure.

Mrs. Hurst Hostess

Mrs. J. B. Hurst, 302 Fairmont avenue, will be hostess Thursday evening, to members of Lawrence County alumni association of the State Teachers college, of Indiana, Pa.

EVENING OF BRIDGE AT YOHO RESIDENCE

A keen competition in bridge interested members of the Y. N. C. club in the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Yoho, on Beckford St. Friday evening.

After play was concluded, the favors were awarded to Mrs. William Bryan and Robert Allshouse, the latter of Youngstown. Supper appointments were suggestive of the season, green and white tones being effectively combined.

The club will have its next meeting on March 29, in the Youngstown home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allshouse.

MRS. KLINGENSMITH HONORED AT PARTY

A delightful event of Saturday evening was a party in the East Lincoln avenue residence of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Brown, in honor of Mrs. Myrtle Klingensmith, retiring matron of Shenango chapter 333, O. E. S., of which Mr. Brown is the worthy patron.

About 40 were present and the evening hours were spent with bridge, 500 and other contests, the favors going to Mrs. Mildred Doerr in bridge, to Mrs. Daisy McKibben for 500, and to Mrs. Irene McKibben for other games. That the guest of honor might not forget this happy occasion, the assembled group, which was composed of officers and past matrons of the chapter, presented her with a handsome gift in appreciation for her work the past year. Mrs. Anna Rowland of Erie, who is also a past matron of this organization, was present from out of town.

A daintily appointed luncheon was served by the hostess and her aides, Mrs. Earl Dufford and Mrs. William Buckner.

Serving Greater Number Reduces Funeral Costs

For public information we print
THE FACTS ABOUT FUNERAL PRICES
Statement of costs of 300 consecutive adult funerals conducted by BOOK-LEYDE Mortuary.

11 Funerals cost		$150 or less
21 "	from	$151 to $200
68 "	"	$201 to $300
69 "	"	$301 to $400
77 "	"	$401 to $500
34 "	"	$501 to $600
20 "		more than $600

These prices include: Personal and Professional services, casket as selected, outside case (vault when used), removal of deceased, door flowers, local newspaper notices, funeral coach, grave tent and all equipment.

Large department stores and hotels would be forced to charge much higher prices if they served but few people. The cost per customer would be prohibitive. That same simple law of economics applies to all business and professional experience including funeral service.

Serving a greater number enables us to provide the superior facilities people desire for a funeral service and at no greater cost, frequently less, to each patron.

You will assume no obligation by asking for complete information about funeral service and its cost or sending for our free booklet "Facts About Funerals".

PUSH BUTTONS FOR VOTING

THE hall of the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, while the august legislators are in session, is not the quietest spot in the world. Few would seek it out as a place for an undisturbed nap.

A bill newly introduced, for installation of an electric vote system, seems in the interests of harassed eardrums at Harrisburg, although its sponsor says it is intended to save his fellow members' voices. By pushing a button on their desks, Representatives could vote "Aye" or "No" under this system without wasted breath.

Unfortunately, however, the sounds of vote-recording are but minutiae in the great flood of noise inundating the House. If the button-pushing system could be amplified to the extent of shutting off the din of legislative oratory at will, it would be accomplishing something. And it might spare Speaker Sarig the necessity of continually pounding with his gavel in a vain attempt to maintain a measure of decorum.

ROMANCE REMAINS

Literary critics who read the trend of modern literature as indicating the passing of romance are reading against the truth. Romance came early into the world, and it will stay late. From time to time literature may wander after new gods and romance may temporarily be laid aside, but not for long. Man invariably takes it back again to his heart when he craves the warming thrill that nothing else in writing can give.

The Muse that holds sway over romance has made for herself a place from which no assaults by the so-called realistic or psychological or any other school can oust her. Romance has rendered man great service by cheering him in time of depression, by firing him to heroic action, by stirring him to high idealism, by shortening his hours of weariness. Other kinds of literature will not replace it, because they can't.

TOPSYTURVINESS

The London Lancet describes a curious optical disease of an English girl who saw everything wrongside to or upside down. She turned pictures upside down to look at them so they would "look right" to her and held a newspaper or book in the same position in order to read. When she added figures she started at the bottom and wrote her answers at the top.

It is obvious that many persons in this country and elsewhere throughout the world are suffering from a similar condition, although in their cases it goes deeper into the skull than the retina. With the English girl the condition was an affliction, freakish and promptly recognized as such.

But in the case of many a modern theorist and downright crank, it is too often regarded as an achievement in circles that ought to know better.

EDICT IN CHINA

To the confusion of its interminable revolutions, floods and famines there has been added something really upsetting in China. The officers of the national army have been forbidden by their commander, General Chiang Kai-shek to marry women who bob or curl their hair. The general views the shorn lock, and the twisted one, as detrimental to the health and morals of the country.

The effect has been about what one would expect from an edict so vitally affecting the women of a nation. A chasm miles deep, miles wide, separates two opposing peaks of opinion with the women of Shanghai and Nanking high up on one of them, supporting the general, and the women of Peiping and Tientsin high up on the other, opposing him. Reprisals by the latter are planned, even to refusing to marry the officers of the national army and, for those who are married to them, divorcing the luckless warriors.

We doubt if the edict of the general or the reprisal of the northern women will amount to much. Efforts at regulating the dress and customs of women (or even men) by formal order never did amount to much. And as to influencing women against marriage, or into divorce, on so feeble a ground as protest against the ban, we suspect the Chinese damsels have forgotten about it already.

OUT OF INFANCY

As even the severest critics will admit, the movies have come a long way since the days when there used to be "One Moment, Please" between each reel. Some who are less kind toward the movies than they ought to be may argue they haven't come far enough, and that the infancy of the industry is apparently a permanent one, but the case for the photographic drama is nevertheless a stronger one today than it has ever been before.

Much of the progress seems to have been made in the past year or two and is traceable, apparently, to two things among others. One of these is best illustrated by the recent selection by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences of "It Happened One Night" as the best picture of the year. Gay and even witty (which is something, on the screen) it is a far cry from the sentimentality and over-stuffed melodrama which not so long ago was the hall-mark of all "epic" films.

The discovery that a light and swift-moving and unpretentious plot is an excellent basis on which to build an excellent picture is, to our mind, the more important of the two things we have referred to above. The other is the superb translation of important literature into the language of the screen, an accomplishment exemplified in "David Copperfield" and "Little Women."

But it is the presence of a high amusement value in nearly all of the more important pictures of last year, however, which is worth noting. There was a time, not so long ago, when the motion picture threatened to go artistic without much regard for popular appeal. That period now seems to have passed. The entertainment tradition has returned, but combined with a greater recognition of the artistic possibilities of the medium, and the public's interest has returned with it.

Income Tax Publicity Section Disapproved.—Headline. By everybody.

People who have trouble making both ends meet may find some satisfaction in the government's difficulties. It was 2¼ billion over its income for the past eight months.

People who don't want to go any faster are getting a break at last. Wiley Post couldn't get across the continent in seven hours and Sir Malcolm Campbell fell far short of going 300 miles an hour.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THOSE JAPS

There has been for years a great deal of talk in this country about the Japanese—their characteristics, their purposes and, particularly, lately their system of espionage. There has been every effort made to arouse the minds of America against the Japanese. All of this emanates from the Pacific Coast where there are a great many Japanese workmen—gardners vegetable and fruit growers, fishermen and other workmen.

The American workman is very hostile to the Japanese, because the Japanese know no hours, no rate of wages and are not susceptible to Union regulations. In the fields and in the gardens, the Japanese men and women not only work from sun to sun, but through the night. They can be seen from the highways operating their irrigation ditches at night. Their market trucks are on the road all through the night. Where they own and operate their own vegetable markets, their markets are the most attractive. Their attendants are the most courteous and they never close their markets. It is a twenty-four hour shift. No American workman will compete against this.

When the Press talks about Japan going broke, getting to the end of the string, the writers fail to realize that a Japanese will never quit; that this Nation entered Manchuria, absolutely ignoring the protest of the rest of the world in a determined effort to find a rich and productive land for Japanese colonization. The Japanese will colonize. Their soldiers will fight at forty degrees below zero and for pay that even a Frenchman would ignore, for they know that Manchuria is extraordinarily rich in iron ore and in coal. They know the land is also very rich and capable of producing any crop that will grow in the Temperate Zone. Manchuria is going to be a Japanese Empire and is not going broke.

When Americans become less lazy; when they cease to worry about their hours and their pay and when they are willing to sacrifice for their Nation—hours, pay and work, then there will be more hope for the future.

DUTY TO YOURSELF DEMANDS ADHERENCE TO DOCTOR'S ORDERS

When your physician designates a certain treatment and prescribes medicine for your ailment, do you carefully follow his orders?

No; instead of continuing as you should, you become negligent.

When your trouble reappears in the same intensity as when you first consulted the doctor, you complain of the inefficiency of his treatment.

As soon as you feel better you invariably suspend the diet and habits necessary to complete cure.

Each recurrence makes it more difficult to combat.

Although at first there was a chance of entirely ridding yourself of the affliction, continued neglect has caused a chronic condition.

Many disorders that can be cured by a rigid regime will return when you revert to your old habits.

It should be worth a great deal to know what caused your trouble.

It is worth much more to have an efficient remedy.

BURIAL

A few gay flowers and a moment's prayer;
A few old friends in a shadowed room;
The step of his loved ones on the stair,
And a long, sad ride to an open tomb.

"Burial at two", the notice ran,
And at three we had spoken our last farewell
And were back at the desk of the business man
Or back at the counters with wares to sell.

Smiles and laughter suit business best.
Tears won't do when you're showing stock.
And that is the reason no patron guessed
We'd been to a funeral at two o'clock.

Another boost in the price of hogs brings them within ten cents of the ten dollar a hundred mark. At that price the farmer hasn't much to complain about, except that he does not have any hogs to sell. Now it's the city chap who has to bring home the bacon who is squealing. It's just pretty hard to satisfy the farmer and his city cousin at the same time.

Tarantism is said to be a dancing mania caused by the bite of the tarantula spider, but modern boys and girls don't even have to be bitten by a mosquito to acquire the habit.

While the government is howling about mergers, it don't seem to be adverse to doing a little merging itself. Down in Beaver county two mail routes have been merged, and the carrier who has been thrown out of a job think's it's a raw deal.

No wonder a girl nowadays feels in the seventh heaven, when she marries. She has probably been engaged about six times before.

But a few of those millions just seem unemployed because their jobs aren't the kind you advertise.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th street

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—This is a day we shall devote to correspondents, some of whom spank the writer (which should delight the readers).

H. E. Kockary, of Elyria, O., believes the writer is inaccurate on the single tax.

Says Mr. Kockary:

"In one of your columns some time ago—about the latter part of October, 1934—you stated that 'the single tax is based on free and unrestricted international trade'. Nonsense. The single tax is based on taxing of land (and land only) to the amount of its full rental value. International trade (or any kind of trade) has no more to do with it than the number of light years the star Sirius is distant from the earth.

"Then, in your column of Feb. 23, you stated '. . . legal confiscation of excess property values. That is the single taxer's method of equalizing wealth and income'. This last sure takes the cake. Buildings of all kinds are property, as well as machinery, railroads, merchandise, etc. But all of these the single tax would exclude from any tax whatever. Land only would be taxed and that to its full rental value.

"Then the last half of your quoted sentence—'This is the single taxer's method of equalizing wealth and income.' Of all people the single taxer recognizes that you cannot equalize wealth and or income, that people are NOT born equal. . . . But what the single taxer WOULD do is to bring about conditions such that everyone would receive the full reward for his or her labor, the reward being commensurate with the value of the labor, of course.

"Why don't you read 'Progress & Poverty' by Henry George?"

We have—approximately 50 times, but maybe we'd better re-read it, and report.

COLLEGE EDUCATION

Robert L. Barnes, of Nashville, Tenn., agrees that colleges cannot develop genius. He approves of a recent statement of ours that colleges claim too much when, as some do, they say they can train a person to write for any sort of publication.

Says Mr. Barnes:

"The biggest proportion of young people today have a fine education from books only—but actually they still are ignorant. They can't make a living. . . .

"No genius ever was born in a college or school, most of them came through hard work. . . .

"I still think the tax situation is the onething that will help us all. . . . Mr. Roosevelt and only he is in position to set the right kind of taxation into motion and I think he may get around to it some time . . . There should be only one form of taxation—the government to collect all the tax and distribute to the states their proportionate share. . . ."

European Emigration To U. S. Now Virtually At Standstill

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS.—The tide of emigration of European workers to U. S. has definitely been halted, statistics on file today with the American Consulate service in Paris revealed, as legislation was being presented in Washington for further restriction on immigration.

Only 422 permits of a totol of 3,086 available under the quota for French citizens were granted in 1934.

The figures indicated 1934 would, for compairson, have to be placed alongside the year 1821 when only 22,633 foreign-born persons entered America to make it their future home.

Since high tide in immigration was reached in 1907, under stimulus of the first Russian revolution when 285,349 foreigners entered the United States as permanent residents, there has been a gradual decline.

In 1933 due to deportations, almost as many aliens were debarred or deported as were admitted.

Of late years, due to the American Immigration Act of March 2, 1929, the quotas of France, Belgium and Switzerland have not been filled. In 1930, Belgium had a quota of 1,304 yet 1,178 of this total was unused; France had a quota of 3,086 and only 280 French decided America would be a better place in which to live than La Belle France.

The years of the depression in America saw thousands of foreigners go back to their land of nativity, in an ebb-tide comparable with the early years of the world war when patriotism sent back a great number of Europeans who had gone to the United States to live. Those who have come back since the depression have found themselves facing terms in the army.

France, Italy, Poland and some of the Balkan states do not recognize naturalization of their subjects abroad, and if they return to their native land must serve the requisite military term.

Incidently, France is possibly the most difficult of all countries in which for a foreigner to become naturalized. A specified number of years residence is required, and police make a careful investigation of the public and private life of the applicant. On top of these the applicant is considered on his general education and whether he could by reason or language and temperament be assimilated into the French race. After passing these rigorous tests, no new citizen can hold official or quasi official post for 10 years after naturalization.

TODAY Is The Day

MONDAY, MARCH 11

Today's Yesterdays, Mar. 11, 1702—First English-language daily newspaper to be published regularly appeared in London: the Courant ("fleet messenger"). The editor, Samuel Buckley, assured his readers he would not take it upon himself to give any comments of his own "supposing other people will have sense enough to make reflexions for themselves."

You look in vain in its columns for the biggest stories of 1702, judged by present day standards, the execution of Captain William Kidd for piracy; and the death of 200,000 in a Japanese earthquake.

Mar. 11, 1748—George Washington, 16, went to work on his first job, as chairman with a surveying expedition sent out to map the vast wilderness tract granted to Lord William Fairfax.

Mar. 11, 1810—Napoleon Bonaparte, emperor of the French, was married to Marie Louise, princess of Austria, at the Hofburg place, Vienna.

It was a proxy ceremony, performed before Marie Louise set out for Paris to meet her husband. Napoleon was represented by the bride's uncle, Archduke Charles, whom he had worsted in a dozen battles.

Mar. 11, 1847—John Chapman died at 72, after having carved an imperishable reputation for himself as "Johnny Appleseed".

An ardent disseminator of the doctrines of Emanuel Swedenborg, he wandered barefooted and clad in sackcloth, Bible in hand, from settlement to settlement on the frontier, preaching "kindness to every living thing," and planting apple, catnip and pennyroyal seeds. When he died, thousands of fruitful apple trees became his monuments.

Notable Nativities—Torquato Tasso, b. 1544, renowned Italian poet—Jerusalem Delivered. . . Robert Treat Paine, b. 1731, Massachusetts signer of the Declaration of Independence. He conducted the prosecution of Capt. Robert Preston, commander of the British soldiers involved in the "Boston Massacre". His fellow Signer defended Preston!. . . Francis Wayland, b. 1796, New Yorker who preached liberal econor[illegible] in the pulpit (Baptist) long before Coughlin, Holmes, et. al., were born.

You're Wrong If You Believe—

That all rain is the same colorless liquid.

It isn't. Thirty-four years ago today, red rain intermixed with sand fell upon Vienna and northern Italy, a phenomenon that never has been explained satisfactorily. Rain, usually thought of as colorless, has come down in all the colors of the rainbow. Seventeen years ago this week, black rain fell in Ireland!

Also, you're wrong if you believe—

That cooked beef is more easily digested than raw meat.

It isn't. It was established in laboratory experiments that 3½ ounces of beef eaten raw was digested fully in two hours; "rare" in three hours; "well done" in four hours.

SCIENCE MARCHES ON

Irish Doctor—Begorra, I've knocked the fever out of him. That is one good thing!

Wife of Patient—Oh, doctor, do you think there is any hope?

REVENGE! GRRR!

Little Man—It's Lemuel Oscar Manfred Ovenshaw Muchmore.

Caller—Who ever gave you a name like that?

Boy—I ain't found out who's to blame yet, but I'm on their trail, and when I catch 'em there's going to be a murder."

Second Business Man—It was great. We decided to have another conference next week.

REBUKED

A disgruntled shareholder rose from his seat at a company meeting, and shook an angry finger at the chairman.

"Sir," he said, fiercely, "I regard you as a scoundrel and the biggest rascal unhung."

The chairman looked at him scornfully. "Sir," he said with dignity, "you forget yourself!"

Fox Case Called For Trial Today

Charged With Failing To Stop And Render Assistance After Truck Accident

George Fox, charged with failing to stop and render assistance, was placed on trial before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court this forenoon. Fox was driving a milk truck on the State street hill near the Bell Telephone transforming station, when he is alleged to have struck and killed Charles Pattison, a resident of Union township.

The accident happened early on the morning of February 12. Fox claimed that he had not seen the man walking on the road and that the first intimation he had of him was when he felt a slight jar of his truck. He looked back, saw Pattison lying in the road. He stopped and went back, but seeing the man was apparently dead, he became terrified and drove away. Later he admitted that he was the driver of the truck that apparently struck the aged man.

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Mar. 11.—Today at noon the condition of Anthony Compana, 23, of Aliquippa, who was seriously injured in an automobile accident just outside of this city, at the Perry Highway-Sandy Lake junction, Saturday evening, was reported at the Mercer hospital as being satisfactory.

Mr. Compana was in a car driven by Roy Landfair, 39, of Beaver Falls, and in which Don Landfair was another passenger. The car collided with another driven by Paul L. Kays, 34, of Clarks Mills, Mercer, in which Alice, 35, wife of the driver, was a passenger.

Although the others received bruises and cuts, the condition of Mr. Compana was the most serious, but is not critical.

Lawerence County Farmers Receive Trivial Benefits

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Mar. 11.—Lawrence county farmers participating in New Deal crop reduction programs had received federal benefits of only $728.91 up to February 1. Such payments to co-operating farmers had totaled $1,750,488 in Pennsylvania and $585,921,943 in the country as a whole.

Of the Lawrence county payments $203.45 went to farmers agreeing to reduce their wheat crop. The balance of $525.46 was paid to county farmers participating in the corn-hog control plan.

Benefit payments totaled $2.192 in Butler county, $988.64 in Beaver county, and $1,573 in Mercer county. Such payments were smaller in Lawrence county than all but eight of Pennsylvania's counties.

Name Jamboree Aides To Escort Local Boys

Four Council Leaders Choose Harry Miles To Supervise Summer Trip

The Boy Scout jamboree committee of the Lawrence County council which is charged with the selection of a full troop of scouts, one from each troop in the council and supervision of their attendance at the 25th anniversary jamboree at Washington, D. C., in August, has selected the leaders to whom the responsibility will be delegated to take this group to Washington for the largest assembly of Boy Scouts ever assembled in America, for the period of August 20 to 31 inclusive. Harry Miles, scoutmaster of Troop V-18, has been selected as the scoutmaster of the jamboree troop and E. D. Hawk and Alfred "Sandy" Howard, scoutmasters of Troops 3 and V-37, respectively, as the assistant scoutmasters.

To date less than half of the troops eligible to send a delegate have made a declaration of intention to the committee and it is important that reservations be made at the earliest possible moment because the national council has given notice that only 30,000 boys can be accommodated and that as soon as that number has applied the charter will close whether the time limit has arrived or no.

The local committee will leave it to the discretion of each troop to select the representative scout as they may see fit so long as they abide by the national rules as given in "Scouting" magazine and "Boys' Life." In every case the scoutmaster and the troop committee are the final authority for the recommendation of the scout selected.

The question of transportation and preliminary camping and their cost has been left for later disposition but both these items will be covered by about ten or twelve dollars at the outside. The cost for the camp at Washington, D. C., will be $25.00 which will have to be paid to the council office by April 1. The cost of the required uniform will be from $7.50 to $12.00, so that the outside required cost will be less than $50.00, not counting the boys' spending money, which is a personal matter.

The committee consists of Dr. R. C. Lutz, Prof. B. F. Thacker, Ralph Main and Rev. A. M. Stump.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, former associate justice of the United States supreme court, left an estate of $568,762, of which approximately one half, representing the residue, is to be given to "The United States of America" by the terms of his will filed for probate today in the District of Columbia supreme court.

This residual bequest totaling approximately $260,000 was made in the will dated Nov. 3, 1931. By special provision Justice Holmes directed that the residue after payment of the bequests would be given to "The United States of America," without provisions as to the purpose for which it is to be used.

Notary public commissions have been entered at the register and recorder's office for Miss F. A. McCormick, Miss Mary R. Reynolds and George S. Miller. Commissions are issued by the governor, and with recording fees, cost about $40.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard took Joe Ruben to the Morganza Industrial Reform School on Saturday. Ruben was arrested on a charge of breaking and entering a building with intent to commit a felony. He was sentenced to Morganza after entering a plea of guilty.

It was easy to tell that Deputy Sheriff Ben Hartland had been having a trying experience with mud roads when he came back from a trip into Hickory township. Not only the automobile, but Mr. Hartland was covered with mud, the yellow, sticky kind that is hard to get off. According to Ben's story he got stuck in the mud several times. It took three horses to haul his car out of one mud hole.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard has posted a notice in the prothonotary's office to the effect that the schedules of distribution of funds received from recent sales of property, are on file in his office. Any person who has any objection to the way the funds are to be paid out has ten days from the posting of the notice to take exception.

Some quick work was done recently by the sheriff's office in rounding up a discharged prisoner. The man had been in the county jail on a minor charge under the name of Lee Porter. The sheriff at Warren, O., called up to ask if a certain man was in jail. Deputy Sheriff Elmer Taylor replied that a man answering the description had been in jail but had been discharged. The name given by the Warren sheriff was different from that of the discharged prisoner, but the Warren sheriff had described him as "pop-eyed," which fitted the man who had been discharged. Sheriff Pritchard and a deputy started out to look for him, and in half an hour they had him back in the county jail. The Warren sheriff came for him at once, and complimented the sheriff on his quick work.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts says that he intends to send out county tax cards as soon as the duplicates are in his office. The taxes are now being figured up in the county commissioners office. Volant borough, Enon and Little Beaver township have been completed, but the county treasurer does not expect to receive taxes until after the cards are sent out. From present indications this will be sometime around the middle of April. A discount of five per cent will be allowed for a certain length of time to all who pay their taxes promptly. The second ward, New Castle, takes more work than any of the others, as there are over 6,600 taxpayers in it. A clerk has been placed on this book to remain until the job is finished.

Fingerprint specialist Earl T. Denton and photographer Limbers of the state police barracks at Butler, have just completed taking finger prints and photographs of all the prisoners in the Lawrence county jail. This is done regularly at intervals of several months. The finger prints and photos are pasted on cards. A copy is furnished the sheriff, one goes to the state department and another to the national headquarters at Washington. The fingerprint bureau at the Butler barracks has recently moved into new quarters and has been equipped with all the latest appliances used in finger printing. The records contain not only such suspects as the state troopers handle themselves but records of prisoners in county and city jails. Records of minor criminals are collected at intervals, but those of murderers are obtained as soon after arrests as possible.

Women On Trip Here Has Narrow Escape From Burning Car

FRANKLIN, Pa. Mar. 11.—Prompt arrival of C. E. Lowry, 107 Forest Hills drive, Youngstown, O., at the scene of an overturned automobile, saved the life of Mrs. Maude Smiley, 58, en route to New Castle, late yesterday.

Lowry was en route here with his wife and three little children when he saw an automobile weaving from one side to another, then suddenly overturn on the highway near Jackson Center.

He stepped on the gas, reaching the car, which was afire. He frantically pulled at one door, then at another. Both stuck. Finally one was opened and he dragged Mrs. Smiley to the highway, just as the entire car became ablaze. The woman was unconscious, blood streaming from her face.

Huge Potential Demand For Machinery Is Seen By Ellwood City Man

ELLWOOD CITY, March 11—The potential demand for new machinery, accumulated during the five depression years, has grown to such large proportions as to indicate that virtually every unemployed worker in the durable goods industries, could be given a full-time job for two years to come if the demands were to be translated into actual orders.

So asserted F. E. Moore, president of Mathews Conveyer company in an interview here today.

"This means," said Mr. Moore, "That the unemployment situation in this and other industrial centers throughout the country, would vanish over night if manufacturers should place orders for essential machinery and equipment required to replace that rendered obsolescent or out-dated since 1929.

"It means, as well, that there would be a wholesale revival in all business done, including retail trade of every description."

Mr. Moore based his estimate on a survey, just completed, of the pent-up machinery and equipment requirements of the country, held back during the depression. The survey, made by the Machinery and Allied Products Institute of Chicago, of which Mr. Moore is a member, discloses that the potential demand for new machinery and equipment throughout the United States at the present time totals $18,574,000,000.

"That," said Mr. Moore, "represents about three-fourths of what it would cost to reproduce all the Class 1 railroads of the United States. It is almost as much as is collected in taxes by all forms of government in this country for two years.

"Sixty-five percent of the cost of all machinery, on the average, is paid out in the form of wages to labor that produces it and the raw material from which it is made. On that basis, there is in prospect a potential payroll of more than twelve billion dollars to labor to be employed in making this vast amount of machinery when the log jam is broken and manufactures replenish their badly run-down plants.

"Twelve billion dollars, at an average wage of 60 cents an hour, means twenty billion hours of employment to workers in the machinery industries. Twenty billion hours of employment would mean work for one man, eight hours a day, six days a week, for 8,000,000 years.

"To put it another way, it would mean work for 4,000,000 men for two years.

"At the present time," Mr. Moore continued, "it is estimated that, out of the 10,000,000 people unemployed 8,300 000 are able workers and that of these there are about 4,000,000 unemployed workers in the durable goods industries thruout the country. Some estimates are higher, but, taking 4,000,000 as conservative, the result of the survey indicates that this whole huge army of men looking for work—many whom are on relief rolls—could be employed steadily and gainfully for two full years if the machinery demand alone were to be met.

"The survey covered the potential machinery and equipment needs of approximately 150,000 industrial plants producing goods of all description in the United States. It disclosed that from one-fourth to one-half of the nation's industrial plants have become obsolete during the depression and will have to obtain new machinery and equipment when industry revives if they are to hold their own in the hot competition for business.

"The survey also indicated that far-sighted manufacturers, aware of the stirrings of revival in business, are making up machinery replacement programs now, while times are still slack, and are beginning to place orders for their requirements.

"Those manufacturers will be able to obtain the machinery and equipment needed at present low price levels as the machinery producers now are in a position to meet demands. When the rush begins, I apprehend that it will be difficult to get machinery without considerable delay. The survey indicates this quite clearly, as it shows a potential demand sufficient to employ 4,000,000 workmen, while, according to statistics, the number of machinery workers at the present time is down to about 500,000."

A reasonable assurance of business stability and a return of confidence, Mr. Moore said, would unloose this huge machinery demand and go far toward solving the entire national unemployment problem, with a corresponding business revival.

Girl Will Tell Of Vice Ring

Brunette To Testify Before New York Grand Jury On White Slavery

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—A pretty brunette, who was lured into New York's far-flung vice racket by the promise of "easy money" and held a prisoner for four weeks in a Brooklyn dive, will brave the threat of a "ride murder" today and tell the grand jury all she knows of white slavery here.

The girl's story, already told privately to District Attorney Dodge, will mark the advent of the third week of the city's campaign to rid itself of vice and various forms of gambling, including the policy slip racket, the "take" of which is estimated at $500,000,000 a year.

MORE WALKING, LESS TALKING, IS OPINION OF SCOUT CAMP HEAD

More walking and less talking in one aid to national welfare suggested by Miss Emelia Thoorsell, head of the Girl Scout National camp department, who believes that most Americans have lost their taste for silence and simple exercise and with it some of their self-confidence.

YOUNGSTER ABLE TO LEAVE HOSPITAL

Little Frank Walker, Jr., of Court street, who was scalded about the legs when a tea kettle slipped from his mother's hand several weeks ago, has recovered sufficiently to return home from the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he has been undergoing treatment for his injuries.

In ancient times a large part of Italy as the classical writers tell us, was covered with forests.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mayor Mayne sentenced a colored gentleman who had been arrested for drunkenness to do janitor chores around the police station. The man proceeded to do as sentenced. Detective John Moore dropped two one dollar bills when the colored man was not looking in his direction When he did gaze toward the detective the latter picked up the money and remarked: "This is my lucky day." The negro believing the officer had found the money, reached for his vest pocket and declared: "Mistah, ah dropped dat money." Moore asked "How much did you have?" The colored man answered "two dollars." Moore smiled as he strolled away and later inquired: "What do you think of that prevaricator?"

Indications are that New Castle was the "jumping off" place for a promotor who was ordered out of the city after Mayor Mayne decided the promotor could not come here, put on a show and collect a goodly portion of the receipts and a local organization get the remainder. Since leaving here reports have come of his having been jailed in Steubenville, Parkersburg and one or two other places.

A man who gave his name as Alexander Maxwell, itinerant and "gandy dancer" as his occupation faced Mayor Mayne in Sunday police court on a charge of begging. During the progress of the hearing he called the mayor "Kid" and when the mayor and prisoner talked things over and the stranger found the mayor was 3 years older than he termed the mayor "Dad." He said he had been "places" during his 61 years and had worked at various occupations. He was given a loaf of bread and a bag of chestnuts to sustain himself on his travels, and set free.

Police chronology for 48 hours ending at 3:30 p. m., March 10, 18 arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness 5, violation of parking law, 8; begging, 1; drunkenness and begging, 2; drunkenness and fighting, 1; suspicion, 1.

When council convened today, bids for a new grader, desired by the department of streets, will be opened by council. The streets department grader is said to be too light for work and that expenses for its repairs make its continued use uneconomical. The new truck bought for the department has not yet arrived.

Dryer Weather Being Awaited At Game Farm For Launching Of Laying Season

Superintendent V. T. Warfel, of the Jordan State Game Farm, said this morning that as soon as there is a "break" in the weather, the farm's supply of ringnecked pheasants will be apportioned off to the laying pens.

Dryer weather is needed but the start of the laying season will be only a matter of a couple weeks away, at the most, the superintendent explained. Right now the entire farm is very muddy.

Due to the great amount of clearing work done last fall and this winter by RWD men, the farm, located a mile from Harlansburg, is in much better condition than it has ever been. The work was discontinued a short time ago.

Meanwhile an analysis of Kelly's organs was being made in an attempt to discover if he had been poisoned, and police investigated the mysterious deaths of a man, who died in Mrs. Butman's 25 cent rooming house last November, and a woman who died in a tavern operated by Mrs. Butman.

"There are rumors that other mysterious deaths are traceable to a tavern formerly operated by Mrs. Butnam," assistant state's attorney Julius Sherwin declared today.

LIEUT. HINTON says:
"I wish to compliment you, not only upon the tests themselves, but also upon the excellent educational value of your advertisements. It is developments such as this that is bringing aviation into prominence as a major industry."

COL. CHAMBERLIN says:
"I have watched with interest the help being given to aviation by companies of importance which are national advertisers and I am daily impressed with the fact that, but for such assistance, the general public would have little conception of the tremendous aeronautical advance which each year brings."

MR. PANGBORN says:
"It must be realized that there is a severe mental hazard to overcome in any first-time, unusual use of aircraft. This has been my experience, based on years of flying. I congratulate you on your enterprise in this matter."

MR. WILLIAMS says:
"Sun Oil Company scores another first! Aviation is certainly indebted to you for proving that an automobile can be carried safely under the fuselage of an airship. This daring flight proved the practicability of something which before had seemed visionary."

ALEXANDER KLEMIN
Professor Aeronautical Engineering, Daniel Guggenheim School of Aeronautics, New York, says: "I had the pleasure of testing out the stability and control of this Burnelli airplane with the automobile mounted underneath, in the wind tunnel at New York University. The results indicated that both the control and stability remained satisfactory. This was fully proved by the flight tests and a valuable scientific fact has thus been fully established."

"In some parts of North Camberwell," Bateman said, "I have had as many as fifty policemen to get me safely out of meetings. I will not risk my life any longer, but will seek a safer and easier seat.

no appetete? nervous? losing weight? pale?
then don't gamble with your body
IF your physical let-down is caused by a lowered red-blood-cell and hemo-glo-bin content in the blood—then S.S.S. is waiting to help you... though, if you suspect an organic trouble, you will, of course, want to consult a physician or surgeon.
S.S.S. is not just a so-called tonic. It is a tonic specially designed to stimulate gastric secretions, and also has the mineral elements so very, very necessary in rebuilding the oxygen-carrying hemo-glo-bin of the blood.
This two-fold purpose is important. Digestion is improved... food is better utilized... and thus you are enabled to better "carry on" without exhaustion—as you should naturally.
You may have the will-power to be "up and doing" but unless your blood is in top notch form you are not fully yourself and you may remark, "I wonder why I tire so easily."
Let S.S.S. help build back your blood tone... if your case is not exceptional, you should soon enjoy again the satisfaction of appetizing food... sound sleep... steady nerves ... a good complexion... and renewed strength.
S.S.S. is sold by all drug stores in two sizes. The $2 economy size is twice as large as the $1.25 regular size and is sufficient for two weeks treatment. Begin on the uproad today.

LETHERMAN CONVICTED; PLANS TO APPEAL CASE

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Mar. 11.—Stunned by the verdict of a jury of three women and nine men which found him guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the death of his sweetheart, Viola Dennis, William Letherman today was a recluse in his home at Charleroi.

The jury debated more than 24 hours. When the verdict was announced, Leterman's pretty red-haired mother became hysterical and had to be carried from the court-room. The youth was at liberty on $10,000 bond pending appeal which must be made by his attorneys within the next four days.

Mother Shrieks

Letherman was white-faced, hands clenched as the foreman of the jury announced its decision. He blanched even more as his mother uttered shriek after shriek and was taken from the court.

W. W. Dennis, stern-faced Donora councilman and father of the girl the commonwealth maintains was beaten to death by her lover. Talked for the first time since the trial started. He said:

"I feel that justice has been done."

Defense attorneys asked for an individual poll of the jury. This was too much for Mrs. Letherman, a half sob, half groan came from her lips. She almost slumped to the floor until a court attache held her. A physician administered a sedative.

Faces Prison Term

The state did not ask a death penalty. Lethermann faces a fine and a possible prison sentence of from 6 to 12 years. He insisted that after a drunken quarrel with the girl last August 17 near a church on a deserted road she plunged over a five-foot embankment, fatally injuring herself. The state declares he admitted beating her when he broke a bottle containing whisky both had been drinking.

But on the stand the youth, former athlete at the University of Alabama and Charleroi high school, says he did not strike the girl, that he was "in love with her and always would be."

District Attorney C. Ward Eicher said he was satisfied with the verdict. The trial was featured by testimony of a group of physicians, some called by the state; others by the defense. No two of the doctors agreed in their diagnosis as to what actually caused the death of Viola.

Some Are Wondering. News For 25,000,000 Families.

H. G. Wells' Dr. Moreau. Is War Starting?

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CHICAGO, Mar. 11.—Chicago, like some other places, is a little uncertain as to what has been happening for five or six years past and more uncertain as to what will happen between now and 1937. Talking to assorted citizens on fast trains and to others at the occasional stops you discover some doubt as to the possibility of everybody living at government expense forever.

IT SEEMS to be dawning on some that have worked hard, with a house and perhaps an automobile partly paid for, that it might be desirable to HOLD ON TO WHAT THEY HAVE. Not everybody seems inclined to drop the substantial bone to grab at the Huey Long-Upton Sinclair-Dr. Townsend shadow in the brook.

THERE IS GOOD NEWS for Senator Huey Long and those that are waiting for one of the Huey Long $5,000 houses that he will distribute, free to 25,000,000 families. The good news is that Chancellor Hitler's postoffice has actually perfected television and will install in Berlin homes a radio set that will bring in speeches and music, simultaneously showing on a screen the faces of speakers and artists.

Senator Long is a speaker and an artist, and while he broadcasts admirably, he cannot do himself justice without being actually seen. In his face is the play of expression, sunshine, shadow and humor such as few other faces possess. It need hardly be said that Senator Long, even as you read this, is probably arranging with German authorities to send him out 25,000,000 television sets, one for each of the 25,000,000 free houses.

LIFE IN AMERICA will take on fresh, rosy colors for the 25,000,000 families in the 25,000,000 free houses presented by Senator Long. Freed from the boredom of work by the $2,500 a year income that Senator Long will provide with each house the 25,000,000 families will sit from early dawn to late evening watching the Senator's face brought right into the little sitting room and hearing his voice. Abraham Lincoln could hardly have imagined that.

H. G. WELLS is in America to write about the New Deal. He will find some good applicable descriptive copy in his book written long ago, "The Island of Dr. Moreau".

Dr. Moreau performs some strange and horribly cruel operations in the effort to make animals speak and otherwise act like human beings.

Mr. Wells will find the new era performing strange operations on business men, to make them speak the new business language.

BIG FOREST FIRES start in a small way and a small hole in a dike may release disastrous floods. Europe worries about that "little revolt" in Greece. Thousands have been killed, rebel warships bombard their own country. Loyal government airplanes reply by bombarding government ships, seized by rebels.

A SHOT THAT KILLED the Austrian heir to the throne started the big war. Europe wonders whether these thousands of shots and bombs in Greece are to start a bigger war. Some, without good authority, accuse Mussolini of starting the revolt in Greece as a first step toward controlling the whole of Southern Europe.

Long ago Rome realized that it must rule all of the Mediterranean or lose its own power.

Perhaps Mussolini thinks the Mediterranean and lands to the north and south should be all Italian as they were once all Roman, after Carthage was destroyed. If he thinks so, he will go after them.

THE BALKAN STATES are worried and nervous. That however, is their normal condition. It will be time enough for Uncle Sam to ask "How much is this going to cost ME!" when England and France begin to worry. What Mussolini really thinks and plans no man knows. But everybody knows that the destiny of a dictator is always to go forward. There is no standing still, whether the man be Bonaparte, Mussolini, Hitler or Stalin.

WHILE THE LOYAL Greek airplanes shoot at Greek rebel airships and bombard a Greek rebel town, our friends in Cuba seeing a strike develop into a revolution, have made Havana's chief of police, Col. Pedraza, dictator for the time being. The dictator became necessary when as part of the strike, the pumping station for Havana's water supply was bombed, cutting off water from a great part of the city.

Deny Attempt To Assassinate Pope

(International News Service)

LONDON, Mar. 11.—Paris reports that an attempt had been made to assassinate Pope Pius were laughed off today in a Reuter's dispatch from Rome.

"The old Mexican custom of carrying daggers led to alarmist reports of an attempt to assassinate the Pope," said Reuter's.

"A Mexican student who sought an audience was searched and found to be in possession of a dagger.

"A police investigation revealed that there was nothing against the student, and he was released."

Hopes Women Will Adopt This Habit As Well as Men

Glass of hot water each morning helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.

N.I.R.A. Is Facing New Test Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—The first test of constitutionality of the NIRA as it affects industry as a whole was slated for argument in the supreme court today.

While the court has already ruled the oil production section of NIRA unconstitutional, the decision did not embrace the act as a whole or the codes.

The court today was to hear the appeal of the Spielman Motor Sales company of New York attacking validity of the National Industrial Recovery Act, the New York enforcement law and the motor vehicle retailing code.

The case offered the possibility for a comprehensive decision settling many vital features of "new deal" policy. There also was the possibility of a restricted decision, which would leave validity of NIRA for future decisions.

Demand Injunction.

Counsel for the motor company demanded the injunction on these grounds:

1. The NIRA is unconstitutional as an invasion of the reserved power of states and unlawful delegation of power to the president.

2. The code of fair competition for the motor vehicle retailing trade went beyond the recovery act's authorization because it stifled competition and fixed prices.

3. The New York law for enforcement of national NRA codes violated the state constitution.

4. The limitation on allowances of trade-in cars violated the due process clause of the federal constitution.

In a brief filed in behalf of the state, David Blitzer, Harold H. Straus and Karl D. Loos contended that both the national recovery act and the state law are valid.

Expect Pink Slip Repeal To Pass

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 11.—With leaders anticipating passage by a rousing vote, the Doughton resolution for repeal of "pink slip" income tax publicity was slated for house action today.

Sponsors of the repeal movement hoped to rush the resolution to the senate so passage can be sought before the treasury is compelled to bare income tax payments to public gaze.

Individual members assailed the house ways and means committee for its strong report recommending repeal of publicity, but no organized opposition has developed. Members of the newly formed house "progressive bloc" are opposed to repeal. Spokesmen said they would make no organized fight because they expect the resolution to pass.

Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina of the ways and means committee was prepared to present authoritative statements deisgned to show that income tax publicity does not produce added revenue.

Experience has shown, his committee asserted, that proper enforcement is the only successful method of compelling full payment.

Drop Program Scheduled For Thursday Night; Plan Later Event

Principal Frank L. Orth of Senior high school today announced that a public concert of Erie Academy high school's famed A Capella choir, scheduled for Thursday, March 14, at the Cathedral, has been cancelled.

"The reason," said Mr. Orth, "is because we cannot obtain overnight accommodations here for the 68 members of the choir, one thing we had to do."

Considerable advance publicity has been given the appearance of the outstanding chooir and Mr. Orth, speaking for the Parent-Teacher association here, the choir's sponsor, said he regretted to announce the cancellation.

As a substitute for the Erie choir concert, the prime purpose of which was to raise funds for underwriting expenses of a sectional forensic and music concert here on April 12 and 13, Senior high's band and orchestra will present a concert on April 5. Ticket holders for the Erie program may have their money refunded or hold them for use at the April 5 concert of the local musicians.

Over 1,800 Northwestern Pennsylvania school pupils will compete here in forensic and music events on April 12 and 13, Mr. Orth estimated today.

Hold Up Decision In Mellon's Case

Board Defers Action Out Of Respect To Memory Of Bank President

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Out of respect for Henry E. McEldowney, Union Trust company president, who died Saturday at Atlantic City, the U. S. board of tax appeals today withheld its decision on that institution's stock transactions which have been injected into the three million dollar income tax battle between Andrew W. Mellon and the federal government.

The board permitted Frank J. Hogan, chief Mellon counsel, to withdraw Carl R. Korb, vice-president of the Union Trust, as a witness and take up another phase of the case.

Funeral services for McEldowney, president of the Mellon bank for 35 years, will be held this afternoon.

The board's decision on whether the government may cross-examine Korb on stock deals between the Union Trust and its subsidiaries probably will be handed down tomorrow.

Maxie Schmeling Wins From Hamas By Technical K. O.

Referee Stops Hamburg Germany Battle In Ninth Round To Save Hamas

Schmeling Proves To Be Better Than When He Held Title; 25,000 At Bout

(International News Service)

HAMBURG, Germany, Mar. 11—Max Schmeling, a far better fighter than when he himself was world heavyweight champion, today had earned the right for another crack at the title by pounding Steve Hamas into a helpless mass in nine rounds while 25,000 Nazis roared.

But Schmeling revealed that he still lacks the experience, or the ability to stow away a helpless foeman. Hamas only earned one even round, the fifth: he was down for almost the full count three times in a sixth-round massacre, and was hanging on the ropes in the ninth yet Schmeling was unable to score a clean knockout. It was referee Voloni who halted the bout.

Hamas, here only three weeks, appeared to be undertrained, and Charley Harvey, his manager, said that he had sprained a ligament in his left arm.

Schmeling Aggressor

He talked hopefully of a return bout to see which could win two out of three—for Hamas beat an inferior Schmeling in Philadelphia a year ago—But Schmeling had eyes for nothing but the Baer bout.

Schmeling started carrying the fight to Hamas from the very first gong, and from that moment on Hamas hardly landed a dozen good blows, and it was the German's battle all the way.

The ex-champion scored with a right and left in brisk exchanges in the first round, when both he and Hamas took a couple of hard ones on the nose. Heavy rights to the body had Hamas up against the ropes in the second frame.

Hamas Uncertain

Hamas was fighting with uncertainty, always on the defensive, while Schmeling hammered him in the face without hardly making any pretense at defending himself. Schmeling easily took the third round and by the fourth Hamas began to show traces of the terrific punishment he was taking. Hamas went into a clinch when Schmeling rained solid punches to the face and body with right and left, and the referee warned him.

Another hurricane of blows sent him down for a count of nine and then a hard right and left to the chin felled him a third time for nine counts.

Fight Is Stopped

The crowd, for Schmeling to a man, cheered Hamas's pluck, but yelled for a knockout. Schmeling charged for a finishing blow, but the gong saved Steve.

The blood streaming from his nose and mouth, Hamas stood up like a warrior for two minutes of the ninth round. "Finish him! Finish him!" the crowd bawled, but though Schmeling hammered away at a man leaning against the ropes in complete defenselessness, Schmeling's kayo punch wasn't forthcoming. The referee gave him ample time to score a knockout, but finally had to put a merciful end to the brawl.

Dicken's first work, "A Dinner at Poplar Walk" was printed in Monthly Magazines, when the author was only 21.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Max Schmeling, former heavy-weight champion of the world, put himself back in the limelight and also in a position to secure a return fight with Max Baer, present world's champion, when he battered Steve Hamas, American boxer into a state of helplessness in the ninth round of their scheduled 12 round bout at Hamburg, before 25,000 fans yesterday. The referee stopped the bout to save the former Penn State gridder from unnecessary punishment. Hamas was knocked down three time for counts of nine in the sixth stanza but gamely held out until the ninth when the crowd implored the Belgian referee, Valoni, to stop the fight. According to Charles Harvey, manager of Hamas, Steve sprained a ligament five days ago and a German physician admitted having given him treatments during the past several days. Ancil Hoffman, manager of Baer, has received a new offer of $300,000 for a Schmeling-Baer fight in the Olympic stadium in Berlin this summer, according to reports from Hamburg.

Presidents of Southern California. Stanford and the University of California warned today that collegiate athletic proselyting will not be tolerated in their schools and pleaded for cooperation of the facilities, students and alumni "if this difficult problem is to be handled" according to San Francisco reports. The statement said "there is no fundamental objection to assisting students who engage in athletics through scholarships, provided other students are given the same opportunities and those athletes obtaining scholarships are dealt with exactly as are other students. Whatever is done in connection with the support of students entering athletics should be done in the open and become a part of the public records of the institution which they attend."

With major league clubs now in training and thoughts of county ball players centered on baseball play here this spring and summer, managers of the various clubs in the Lawrence county loop will meet Wednesday night at the Sport Goods store for the purpose of determining exactly what team and the number of clubs will hold a franchise in the circuit this season. On the following night the officers of the Lawrence county circuit will attend the session of the city league managers who will meet also at the Sport Goods store. The Lawrence loop officials will give the city league officials the benefit of their experiences in operating the circuit since 1923.

Wayne Osborne allowed a hit and that was the finale for the home town boys.

Catholics Win Junior Crown

At the half, the Catholics held a 15-13 lead. Victor Nocera, Ben Franklin junior high product, was outstanding with 15 points. Prosser played a good defensive contest. Eddie Koszella, also of Ben Franklin played a whale of a game for the Polish boys.

THE SPORT PATROL

THE CINCINNATI REDS

When the Cincinnati Reds open the 1935 season it is possible that there will not be a man in the lineup who was with the team throughout last season. Hollingsworth and Campbell may form the battery; Mize, Kampouris, Myers, and Riggs will likely cover the infield; and Byrd, Goodman, and Pool may be the outfield starters.

Whether or not this group does start the season intact, the fact remains that the Reds will open the season with the most changed team in either league. Manager Dressen will have a colorful bunch of players and the spirit of the youthful members will likely make the Reds a vastly improved outfit. There may be more polished teams in the league but none will be more interesting to watch than the young group assembled by Larry MacPhail.

Paul Derringer and Si Johnson will be two of the starting pitchers with Al Hollingsworth, Gene Schott, Benny Frey, and Don Brennan fighting for the other three berths. Leroy Herrman, Dan MacFayden, and Tony Freitas will likely round out the hurling staff.

Four catchers, Ernie Lombardi, Gilly Campbell, Hank Erickson, and Clyde Manion, are on the roster but no more than three of them will remain. Erickson and Manion will have to fight for the bull-pen job. If Erickson shows ability, Manion may land a managerial job at one of the farms, otherwise Clyde will stick around and Erickson will get a train ride back to Louisville.

The infield has been temporarily arranged to include a quartet of youngsters averaging 23 years of age. Johnny Mize, hard hitter from Rochester, will be at first; Alex Kampouris, the No. 1 Greek in the big leagues, will play second; Billy Myers, up from Columbus by way of the Giants, is slated for short, and Lou Riggs, another Columbus rookie, will be on third.

Should any of these juveniles fail, Jim Bottomley, Gordon Slade, and Tony Piet will be around to take over the job. Joe Morrissey and Sparky Adams are also in camp.

In the outfield the five most likely to survive the final cut are Sammy Byrd, Adam Comorosky, Chick Hafey, Harlin Pool, and Ival Goodman. The other two, Lincoln Blakely and Ted Petoskey, will be farmed out for more experience. Blakely will probably land in Toronto while Fort Worth will be the destination of Petoskey.

The Reds will certainly be an interesting club to observe no matter where they finish in the 1935 race. Like Tom Yawkey and Eddie Collins at Boston, Powel Crosley and Larry MacPhail have built up the team quite extensively both in player material and in minor league farm purchases.

However, unlike Yawkey, who has spent hundreds of thousands of dollars purchasing stars at their peak, the Reds have doncentrated on youthful players. The Redsox stars will be losing their zip before the team becomes fully organized. Fellows like Grove, Walberg, Johnson, Pipgras, and others can't wait many more years until someone comes along to fill the weak spots on the team. Porter, Cissell, and Morgan have already departed; a wad of dough was wasted there.

Cincinnati has adopted a policy at the other extreme. MacPhail not only has purchased many youngsters, but the Reds are getting rid of the veterans as fast as a rookie can be found to fill the spot.

Watch the Reds grow in strength over the next two, three, and fours years. They may not get so high this season, but by 1936 they should be established as a first division club, and in 1937 Cincinnati will be a real threat in the National league.

McCarthy Thinks Yankees Will Be In Thick Of Race

Gehrig And Gomez Still Belong To Yankees And Are Great Stars

McCarthy Has Confidence In Infield; Combs Back In Shape

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 11.—Joseph Vincent McCarthy, the gentleman who manages this New York ball club for better, for worse and occasionally for neither, went back 25 years today and seemed to become again the small boy who whistles passing the grave yard at twilight.

Twilight in the life of the Yankees was reached some days ago when 4,000 gathered here to watch the Boston Braves and their new right fielder, vice president, assistant manager and exhibit A, while less than 200 viewed the strangely forlorn Yankees. It used to be the other way around here, but that was before the Yankees evicted Ruth and the Braves gave him sanctuary.

McCarthy Confident.

Nevertheless, even with Ruth still on the premises under a one-year lease, it would only have meant one more body for the Yanks to bury. One by one, the great champions of 1932 are being piously but promptly laid to rest, so that before long very little will remain except the headstones.

But Mr. McCarthy says everything is going to be all right. After all, he can still whistle.

"All I can say for the Tigers is that they'd better not be any worse," he announced today. "As it is, I figure we'll beat them anyhow. My pitching is better and it was downright good last year. So is my infield, with Crosetti just maturing at shortstop and Rolfe coming on like a house afire at third base in the closing weeks of last season.

Outfield Is Good.

"My outfield defense is better. My attack is at least equal."

If this was intended as an implied criticism of Ruth, Mr. McCarthy declined with hauteur to confirm the idea.

"We were not," said he, "Ruth belongs to another club."

So, I suspect, will several more of the 1932 relics before another year has passed. Lazzeri is to play second base again and he was almost fired four years ago. He hasn't been really right for several years but there's nobody else except Don Heffner and he couldn't hit with the blunt end of a banjo.

"Combs is as good as ever," says McCarthy.

But Combs hasn't been as good as ever for several years and that crash into the wall in St. Louis, resulting in a fracture of the skull, didn't add anything. Otherwise, people would be going around looking for the hardest stone wall. Combs does look good down here but he's at a fairly elderly age to be fracturing skulls with impunity.

Gehrig-Gomez Great.

With this exception and that of Ruth, the club is pretty much the same outfit that finished second last year and probably won't do any worse this time. For years it always has been the club to beat and it still is, with two of the game's greatest in Gehrig, the hitter, and Gomez, the pitcher. He won 26 games last year.

"And," says McCarthy, "he hasn't started to come to his best. My other starters are Johnny Broaca, who came to the club without training last year and ought to be twice as good; Charley Ruffing, winner of 19 and still good, and Johnny Murphy, who will always be good because he knows where to throw that ball.

"Then, there's Walter Brown, the best pitcher in the minor league last year; Vito Tamulis, who came from Newark and pitched us a shutout at the close of the season, and Jimmy Deshong, a little wild but a winner for us in 1934."

Pitt Will Play West Virginia

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Coach H. C. Carlson pointed his Pittsburgh Panthers today for their tussle Wednesday against West Virginia University at Morgantown.

Pitt scored a 41 to 25 victory over Penn State Saturday night.

Duquesne closed its most successful basketball season in history Saturday by winning 46 to 32 from Geneva. The only defeat suffered during the season by the Dukes was administered by Pitt.

New Castle Board Waits For Action On Measures At Harrisburg

Work on the budget for the New Castle schools for the coming year has reached the point where further work must be delayed until the budget committee has some idea of what the General Assembly will do in the way of relief. For this reason it will not be possible to send out the school tax notices at the same time the city tax notices go out this year.

Several questions stand in the way of further budget work. First is whether the Department of Public Instruction will cut the school appropriations this coming year. For the current year the state appropriation was cut approximately 15 per cent. This was accomplished by giving the schools the full amount for the first semester and only 70.5 per cent for the second semester. New Castle received $58,-352 for the first semester and should have received the same amount for the second semester. Instead, it will receive $41,138, a cut of $17,-214.

Salaries and Increments

The act which held the annual increment for teachers in abeyance and which permitted a 10 per cent reduction in teachers' salaries has expired. Unless it is renewed the full schedule of the Edmonds act will prevail. The difference to the New Castle school district is about $90,523.

This amount represents nearly two mills in tax levy, but the school board does not want to increase the tax levy. The members feel that it is as high now as it should be, higher than the people care to pay, but it is also a fact that the board has reduced expenditures to the point where further reduction is practically impossible.

The situation is a precarious one, and like other school boards, the local board is waiting for word from Harrisburg. Until some indication is given of what will happen the board must delay the finishing of the budget.

Traffic Census Will Be Taken

Traffic Survey Will Likely Be Made On All Principal Roads Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 11—If you see a chap standing off the road this summer, he may not be "thumbing" a ride. Instead, he may just be counting automobiles and trucks to get a traffic census of Pennsylvania highways.

The state planning board today was considering a traffic survey as one of thousands of projects to provide work for the unemployed from the proposed $4,000,000,000 federal works relief program.

Will Provide Work

The project would have two purposes. It would provide work for several thousand jobless, stationed on every federal, state and secondary highway in the state and it would furnish an accurate picture of the state's needs for future highway construction.

Plans call for checking the number of pleasure cars, trucks and buses and other types of vehicles traveling over every highway. The traffic count would be made twice, in all probability, once during light traffic periods and once during the summer months. Travel every hour of the day and night would be tabulated.

DRIVERS' LICENSES REVOKE TOTAL 685

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 11—Drivers' licenses revoked thus far this year total 685 and those suspended 980. The Bureau of Highway patrol and safety reported today. During the week ending March 5 a total of 57 licenses were revoked and 138 suspended. Withdrawals totaled 42 more than the preceding week. During the same week operating privileges were restored to 71.

AUTO BREAKS WINDOW

Report was made to city police that an auto last night had run into a window at 1402 Croton avenue. The pane of glass broken is 28x48. The directory shows the name of the occupent at that address as Liberto Zarlinga. The name of the autoist was not given on the police report.

Stock Market Firmer Today

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—The stock market was a quiet but generally firm affair today as the steady dribble of selling which characterized Saturday's session appeared to have abated. The firmer tone was apparently due to the inflationary implications of the treasury's action in using devaluation profits to redeem government bonds.

There still remained a number of weak spots, however. Socony-vacuum was under renewed pressure selling down fractionally to a new low for the year. This served to dampen speculative enthusiasm on other oil shares.

General Motors and Chrysler were fractionally higher on reports that first quarter earnings would be favorable. U. S. Steel and other industrials were firm.

Railroad stocks after a somewhat easier opening took on a better appearance as the session wore on. Union Pacific after opening down more than a point firmed and recovered all but a fraction of its loss.

New York Central, Delaware & Hudson and Atchison were well supported.

American Telephone was a strong spot in the utilities rising more than half point. The power and light shares, though, were highly irregular with Consolidated Gas, Public Service and American Water Works just barely steady.

Liquors, farm implements and specialties were quiet and firm.

Gangland Seeks To Prevent Probe

INNOCENT GIRL AMONG WOUNDED

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Mar. 11.—Deadly crackling of gangland guns, clanging of ambulances and the somber rumble of the morgue cart provided the overture for the second week of the grand jury's investigation of vice and rackets in New York City today.

Two more men were killed and an innocent 15-year-old girl was wounded as the underworld continued its desperate and bloody campaign to frustrate the attack on its fabulously lucrative commerce.

The murder were the eighth and ninth since the investigation began last Monday.

Threats Are Made

Threats from hired assassins failed to terrorize one star witness, however, a pretty, 19-year-old brunette who was scheduled to go before the grand jury today. She has promised to tell how she was held as a white slave for four weeks by a Brooklyn vice syndicate.

Complaining that her health was shattered by the ordeal to which she was subjected, she already has told her story in private to District Attorney Dodge. She named one of the vice overlords and accused a syndicate lawyer of conniving with magistrates and handpicked jurors to obtain dismissal of vice cases.

The girl has been threatened with death and is being guarded carefully.

Bar Association Acts

Meantime the bar association today moved against the basic evil which permits crime to flourish—the crooked lawyers who employ all the legal tricks required to free chronic and notorious malefactors. Thomas D. Thacker, president, declared swift disbarment proceedings will be brought against any lawyer shown to be connected with the racket rings which mulct the public of millions annually.

Antoinette Pascucci, 15, was strolling in the Mulberry Bend section with her two-year old nephew, Joseph Tamoasullo, when she became the accidental victim of gangsters late yesterday.

She was walking past a group of flashily dressed men when a volley of shots was fired from a speeding automobile. The girl fell to the sidewalk, wounded and screaming with pain, while the car roared away and the intended victims fled in terror.

Only a few hours before, Curtis Jackson, a negro, was mowed down in a Harlem street. In his pockets were telltale "rent party" cards, linking him with a favorite vice syndicate. He died without talking.

Douglas Burrell, 32, negro longshoreman, was slain in another section of Harlem.

By WILLIAM J. KELLY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 11.—Primed for the fourth round in a three million dollar income tax battle, counsel today awaited the U. S. tax appeal board's ruling on what courses may be pursued in the government's battle against Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury.

If the board rules in favor of the government, doors of Union Trust company and several of its subsidiaries—financial pillars of the "House of Mellon"—most likely will be thrown wide open. If the Mellon side is triumphant, Chief Government Counsel Robert H. Jackson will be forced to traverse a different course to prove the former cabinet member owes $3,089,261 in additional taxes and penalties on his 1931 income.

Frank J. Hogan, chief attorney for Mellon, who wants a refund of $139,045, insists testimony at the hearings must be confined solely to matters involving Mellon. Jackson, through cross-examination of Carl R. Korb, vice-president of the Union Trust, desires to expose stock deals between that institution and its subsidiaries. He charges these concerns operated a "tax evasion mill" and Mellon benefited in at least one instance.

For this reason, the decision the board must make is important. Should the government be upheld, Jackson will be in a position to obtain information concerning many things he was denied at the start of the case three weeks ago when subpoenas for records of the Union Trust and Mellon National bank were quashed.

In the same manner, however, an unfavorable ruling will limit his interrogation of Korb and other witnesses who are to follow.
